LOUP WATER SETTLEMENT IS REACHED

Transfer Of George N. Peek To NRA Seems Probable

EXPECT ACCORD TO SPEED WORK UPON PROJECTS

Willis Brings Columbus, North Loup and Middle Loup Backers to Agreement—Columbus Construction, Already Recipient of PWA Fund, May Start at Once.

Settlement of the Loup river water controversy, which will pave the way for an order granting the Columbus power project's water appropriation and allow that project to get under way shortly, seemed assured Thursday morning after a series of conferences between state officials and representatives of the Columbus and the Middle and North Loup projects.

With representatives of all interested parties apparently in accord and ready to withdraw all protests and permit issuance of the order following conferences between them and State Irrigation Commissioner R. H. Willis, State Engineer Roy Cochran said that the order might not be issued immediately. He said that ironing out of troublesome differences opened the way to a settlement and indicated that issuing of the order granting the Columbus project's water appropriation might hinge upon developments at an afternoon conference.

Columbus Ready Start.

The Columbus development is the only one of the Loup projects which has received an allotment of federal funds. It received recently a loan and grant of $7,500,000 from the PWA, and its sponsors are anxious to settle the water controversy so that construction work can be undertaken as speedily as possible. The other projects have been approved by the state PWA advisory board, and now await federal approval.

As worked out in the conferences, the Columbus project would be given an appropriation for 3,200 second feet, the complete amount it requested, and the North and Middle Loup power and irrigation projects would file no protests if either of the upper Loup districts later desire to complete their filings and have appropriations of water granted.

The Central Power company's plant at Boelus would be the only water appropriation prior to that of

CONVICT FORKS MURDER CHARGE

Life Imprisonment Is Recommened For West Point Man.

WEST POINT, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—Ed Forks was convicted at 1:30 p. m. today of first degree murder for the shooting of his neighbor Charles Moulton here last September 8. The jury, which had deliberated since yesterday afternoon, recommended life imprisonment.

Forks was taken back to the county jail. He has three days in which to file application for new trial.

Forks' son Richard was the only relative in the court room when the jury returned its verdict. Defendant said during the trial that suspicions of his wife's relations with Moulton led him to shoot the man down as he left his house for work three months ago.

He admitted he had no substantial basis for his suspicions, however, and physicians testified that unfounded suspicion would not have driven him to insanity.

U. S. Rejects Bids For Canned Beef To Give to Needy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7— (AP) — The Federal Surplus Relief corporation may abandon, at least for the time being, its plan of buying 25,000,000 pounds of canned beef for distriution of the needy.

Relief administration officials said today all bids for the beef, submitted some weeks ago, had been rejected as "too high" and that no decision as to whether new bids would be requested had been reached.

Specifications for the proposed contract said canned beef already in stock would not be eligible and that bidders must be prepared to buy up live beeves for processing. The administration made known it desired not only to aid the needy, but to reduce the beef surplus.

MAKES PLANS TO CONDUCT SPEEDY CORN-HOG DRIVE

"Thorough Campaign to Bring $40,000,000 to State"—Brokaw.

Plans for a speedy campaign to give Nebraska farmers their $40,000,000 share under the federal corn-hog program were being laid here Thursday by W. H. Brokaw state administrator, who hopes to complete the drive for contracts by the first of March. Brokaw pointed out that the time element is a vital factor if farmers of this state wish to receive maximum remuneration and said that he plans to adapt the machinery of the wheat allotment campaign to the corn-hog program.

"I hope the wheat campaign will be cleaned up this week," he said, "and we can turn then to the corn-hog program. The wheat checks aren't all here, of course, but the contracts should all be in Washington within a few days."

He didn't have final figures but said the latest estimate for Nebraska's wheat share was $2,000,000 less than the $9,000,000 possible.

FORMER NEBRASKA EDUCATOR IS DEAD

OMAHA, Dec. 7—(AP)—Henry O. Chapman, 63, former Omahan and Nebraska high school principal, died at a Kansas City hospital early today. He had made his home there for the past 20 years. Chapman received degrees from Wesleyan and Northwestern universities, and after serving as principal of several Nebraska high schools, entered religious publishing and lived many years in Omaha. The funeral will be held here Saturday.

LINCOLN MAN IS AMNESIA VICTIM

J.W. Carpenter Identified Through Picture Of Baby Daughter.

A victim of amnesia at Omaha, J. W. Carpenter, 31, was identified by his wife here Thursday afternoon by pictures of their small daughter which he was reported to have had in his pockets when he was found.

According to an Associated Press dispatch, the man was picked up at a city shelter in Omaha and taken to the Douglas county hospital at Omaha. A money order issued in Lincoln on January 19, 1932, to Mrs. Claire Carpenter was also found in his pockets, which aided in identifying the man.

Mr. Carpenter left here last September and went to Scottsbluff, Neb., to look for work. He has a sister there, Mrs Lloyd Guernsey. He left Scottsbluff Nov. 26, his wife said, and planned to go to Grand Island and Omaha where he had prospects for a job. He was to have stopped in Lincoln on his way to Omaha, but failed to do so.

While at Scottsbluff he had been ill most of the time. He had quinsy and his throat was almost several times.

Mrs Carpenter has lived here with her parents for the past five years. Mr Carpenter came originally from Scottsbluff and had lived in Lincoln only a short time. Mrs Carpenter now lives at 1629 R street with her parents, Mr. and Mrs Trave Campbell.

The pictures which aided in the identification were of their year-and-a-half old daughter, Caroline Ann, who is in Lincoln with her mother.

WALLACE BACKS PURE FOOD AND DRUG ACT BILL

Hearings Open On Copeland Proposal to Strengthen Law.

MAIN PURPOSE TO PROTECT PUBLIC

Number of Changes in Enforcement Powers and Policies Listed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Secretary Wallace today personally endorsed the general principles of the Copeland bill to strengthen the pure food and drugs act and said the department of agriculture officially favored it.

As the first witness at the opening of hearings on the controverted measure, Wallace said need for broader and stricter legislation has been brought about by increased traffic in foods and drugs, development of cosmtics, new narcotic and habit-forming drugs, and "totally new food constituents and important nutrition elements like the vitamins."

"In addition to preserving the worthy features of the present law," Wallace said, "the bill proposes a number of changes in enforcement powers and policies, including these:

"Cosmetics are brought within the scope of the statute.

"Mechanical' devices, offered for curative purposes, and devices and preparations claimed to bring about changes in the structure of the body are included within the purview of the bill.

False Ads Prohibited.

"False advertising of foods, drugs, and cosmetics is prohibited.

"Definitely informative labeling is required.

"A drug which is, or may be, dangerous to health under the conditions of use prescribed in its labeling is classed as unadulterated.

"The promulgation of definitions and standards for foods, which will have the force and effect of law, subject, of course, to court review, is prescribed.

"The prohibition of added poisons in foods or the establishment of

FLEMING AWAITS O STREET GRANT

Federal Approval For Resurfacing Project Expected Thursday.

Hopeful that he will receive word before night that Lincoln's application for a PWA grant of $12,000 for resurfacing O street from Eighth to Sixteenth street had been approved, Mayor Fenton B. Fleming returned Thursday morning from Washington, D. C., where he spent Monday and Tuesday conferring with PWA officials. He was satisfied also he added, that the bond agreements on the Washington street water main would be signed in Washington and mailed to Lincoln Thursday.

Accompanied by Paul Shively, captain of police, the mayor spent an entire day in Chicago enroute to Washington studying police activities there. As a result, he hopes to work out a number of the changes here with a view to increasing the efficiency of the radio, photography and fingerprinting department, as well as operation of the cruiser cars.

Arriving in Washington Monday, the mayor was met by Sen. W. H. Thompson and spent the rest of the day and all of Tuesday "chasing down" the resurfacing application. Late Tuesday afternoon he "dug it up" in the PWA legal department.

Action Promised Thursday.

Before starting the search he was given an escort by Col. Henry M. Waite, PWA administrator, and all papers relative to the application

Georgian Admits 'Mercy' Slaying

ATLANTA, Dec. 7 — (AP) — John Stephens, 32, was in jail today charged with the slaying of his aunt, Miss Allie Stephens, by striking her over the head with a heavy potted plant.

County police quoted Stephens as saying he knew his aunt was in great pain and death was only a few hours away because she was ill with cancer.

ROBBER GETS 28 YEARS.

RACINE, Wis., Dec. 7—(AP)—Leslie Homer, 46, Indiana parole violator, today pleaded guilty to participating in the robbery of the American Bank & Trust Co. here November 20. Judge E. R. Burgess imposed a sentence of 28 years in the state prison. Homer said by police to be a friend of John Dillinger, notorious jail breaker, was identified at Indianapolis yesterday by witnesses of the robbery here.

Sea Of Oil Created As Marauders Release 10,000 Gallons From Tanks

With scoops and buckets, workmen were attempting Thursday to "sop" up 10,000 gallons of fuel oil which oozed over a quarter of a block near Second and L streets during the night when marauders opened a valve on an Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company storage tank.

Meanwhile two youths, Harry Sterkel, 17, 111 K street, and Roderick Freauf, 16, 148 L street, were said by police to have admitted tampering with storage tank valves on the company property. Three valves were tampered with, but the oil was released from but one of the 20,000 gallon containers.

Intends File Charge.

Chief of Police W. C. Condit indicated that a charge of willfully destroying property may be filed against the youths. Officials of the company, however, had not interviewed Sterkel and Freauf early Thursday afternoon.

Officeds Schappaugh and Robbins, who arrested the youths after learning that they were seen loitering about the company grounds, said the boys explained they were trying to take the brass valves from the tanks to sell for junk. The oil spurted out and they couldn't get the pin back in the valve, they told police.

Fire Danger Feared.

When first discovered the oil had congealed in the cold, morning air but had "thawed" out by noon.

A crew of employes was set to watch the mess as soon as it was found because of the highly inflammable nature of the fuel oil. The oil, a special product bought under the name of gas-oil, is used in the manufacture of illuminating gas. The supply is kept on hand by the power company to operate the stand-by gas plant in case anything ever happens to the natural gas pipe lines now supplying the city.

The lost oil was valued at between $900 and $1,000.

COUNTIES URGED TO HURRY CWA FUND REQUESTS

Lancaster and Douglas Have Large Quotas Yet To Fill.

Eleven Nebraska counties which have not yet filed specific applications with the state civil works board for the full quotas of jobs assigned to them are being notified in a telegram sent out by Federal Agent Rowland Haynes that they must do so by December 10 or have their remaining allotments cancelled and given to other counties.

The ones lagging behind in their requests are Buffalo, Burt, Dakota, Dixon, Gosper, Hamilton, Harlan, Keith, Nuckolls, Perkins, and Rock. All of them are expected to "get a move on" during the next two days and have enough proposals in the hands of the state board by the end of the week to use up the entire number of jobs to which they are proportionately entitled.

Lancaster Quota Unfilled.

Lancaster county still has 40 to 45 per cent of its total allotment of 2,234 jobs not yet definitely provided for, but plenty of projects have been formulated to exhaust the quota, and the only question is which ones among them will be approved by the state and county civil works tribunals.

Douglas county likewise has a credit for about 30 per cent of its 6,050 jobs still pending, which will be taken care of by additional projects already submitted for approval or to be submitted shortly.

Girl Assistant to NRA Chief Raised From $25 A Week to $5,780 Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — (AP) — Miss Frances Robinson, administrative assistant to Hugh S. Johnson, was revealed today to be getting paid $5,780 a year, one of the largest NRA salaries and on a par with the compensaton of some of the most expert government employes.

After publicaton of the fact in the Washington Post, reporters inquiring of Johnson were told by him:

"I think that was one below the belt."

The story had said Miss Robinson was elevated from a $25 a week clerkship to her present salary in NRA's short career.

"In many ways she knows more about this law and this organization than anyone else," Johnson said. "I am sure that nobody here ever thought she was a mere stenographer or secretary. She has been my personal assistant straight through."

Asked whether he had any objections to publication of the entire NRA payroll, Johnson said he had not and that "I think people will be surprised when they see it."

Johnson's assistant, with him long hours, has made many extended trips across the country with the administrator.

"In the original setup of NRA," said Johnson, "Miss Robinson and Bobby Straus (Robert K. Straus, son of the ambassador to France) were personal assistants to the administrator at a salary of $5,000 a year.

"Miss Robinson came recommended to me as an excellent administrator and executive from RKO (Radio-Keith-Orpheum)."

Raiders Get $500,000 In Bogus Bills

Chicago Counterfeiting Plant Seized; Two Men Under Arrest.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(AP)—A half million dollars in counterfeit money and complete counterfeiting plant were seized last night in a raid by United States secret service men on a cottage on the northwest side.

The raid resulted from the arrest two weeks ago of two men on the south side. One of them had $30,000 in counterfeit $5 bills in his possession. The arrests were kept secret.

The men in custody are William E. Davis, 53, reputed to be a Capone henchman, in whose automobile the $30,000 in bogus money was found, and Henry Harris, held in secret custody.

Neither Davis nor Harris was believed by government agents to be a ringleader in the counterfeiting gang.

Details Closely Guarded.

Details of the raid were closely guarded by government agents. It was learned, however, that the money found in the cottage was in bills of $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100 denominations. The engraving and printing plant was said to be one of the most complete outfits ever seized.

"Distributors" for the counterfeiting gang were believed to have operated throughout the country. Passers of bogus money seized recently in Indiana and Nebraska were under suspicion of being affiliated with the gang.

NEW SHAKEUP IN TREASURY POSTS

Internal Revenue Bureau and Secret Service Taken From Hewes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Acting Secretary Morgenthau said today at a press conference that both the internal revenue bureau and the secret service have been taken from the authority of Assistant Secretary Thomas Hewes, but declined to comment on treasury rumors of Hewes' resignation.

"I have no comment," Morgenthau replied to questions. "I'll have to let it go at that."

Asked what his purpose was in bringing the internal revenue bureau and secret service under his own direct supervision, the acting secretary of the treasury said he "wanted to familiarize myself with the work and felt it best to have direct contact with the men in charge."

Since becoming acting secretary, Morgenthau has put in a number of his own men as special assistants who are drawing pay out of funds appropriated for the emergency banking act.

Hewes also declined to discuss reports of his resignation. He is an appointee of President Roosevelt.

THREE KILLED IN AN EL PASO GUN BATTLE

United States Border Patrolmen Clash With Smugglers.

150 GALLONS OF LIQUOR SEIZED

Officers See Two Other Men Fall Into Rio Grande; Seek Bodies.

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 7 — (AP) — Three men were killed and another was wounded in a gun fight between U. S. border patrolmen and liquor smugglers at the foot of Park street today.

The dead:

Dorne C. Melton, 31, U. S. border patroman, shot through the heart.

Francisco Gonzalez, 25, Juarez.

Higinio Perez, Juarez.

The wounded man, Francisco Mosquero, is in a serious condition in Liberty hospital, Juarez.

American officers seized 150 gallons of mixed liquors.

Melton came here in January from Conyers, Ga. His body will be sent there for burial.

Patrolmen said more smugglers may have been killed. They saw two men fall into the Rio Grande during the fight and are looking for the bodies. They may have been the two men who are dead at Liberty hospital, Juarez, across the border.

16 Wading River.

The battle started when Melton and five other inspectors challenged 16 men who had waded the river with 150 gallons of liquor.

When the smugglers reached the American side, the officers leaped out of hiding with drawn guns.

A blaze of gun fire met their command to surrender. Melton fell at the first volley.

The other inspectors returned the fire as the smugglers dropped their loads and backed into the river, firing as they retreated.

The firing lasted about three to five minutes.

During the firing a sniper on the American side shot at the officers from behind.

This was the second rum battle in which a border patrolman was slain recently. Rollin C. Nichols was killed in East El Paso several days ago.

IOWA LEGISLATORS FAVOR INFLATION

DES MOINES, Dec. 7—(AP)—The Iowa house of representatives today went on record as favoring federal monetary inflation in a concurrent resolution passed by a vote of 81 to 16.

The resolution memorializing the president for crop reduction control, inflation of currency and reduced interest on agricultural loans urges the president to reduce the content of gold supporting the dollar to one-half, fixing the content immediately at 11.61 grains of gold.

LAWYERS ARGUE IN DOTSON CASE

Man Charged With York Bank Robbery Soon To Know Fate.

YORK, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—The fate of Charles Dotson, charged with participating in the $9,769 First National Bank robbery here last Sept. 20 will be placed in the hands of a District court jury about 5 o'clock this afternoon.

One additional state witness was called to the stand this morning. Glenn Lee, a substitute rural carrier at Alexandria, Neb. testified that he and P. I. Demary, Alexandria postmaster, helped four men get an automobile out of a ditch near there on Sept. 19 and that one of the occupants of the car was Dotson. Defense witnesses have testified Dotson was in Tahlequah, Okla., that day.

District Judge Harry Landis instructed the jurors to find Dotson either guilty or acquit him. Arguments will be presented this afternoon, each side being allowed an hour and a half.

Contradictory Testimony.

Wednesday afernoon four persons testified they saw Dotson in or near Tahlequah, Okla., the day of the robbery. They were Cecil Sanders, Dave Whittimore, James Boling and Judge J. T Parks. he state produced four rebuttal witnesses. Sheriff A. E. Cartr, Byron Demaree, Alexandria postmaster; and homas Lantz and Virginai Nielsen of Central City.

Demaree testified that on September he helped pull a car out of the mud near Alexandria, that the car was occupied by four men, and that Dotson was one of the four. Demaree said he was positive of his identification. Lantz and Miss Nielsen said they saw Dotson in Central City the day preceding the robbery.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — (AP) — Peace signs hovered over the dispute in the agriculture department today after President Roosevelt had conferred with the warring leaders.

George N. Peek, the agriculture adjustment administrator, and Guy Rexford Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, both told reporters they are not resigning.

There was some talk of Peek going to the NRA to take charge of the food codes just transferred there; but later developments did not appear to bear this out as the president and Peek exchanged views for more than an hour and a half.

Peek said he had "not heard anything about it. It hasn't ever been considered so far as I know."

Inquiries at the NRA developed the impression there that Peek would remain at the agricultural adjustment post to keep charge of some of the codes, as well as of the farm act in general.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7— (AP) — Transfer of George N. Peek, now agricultural adjustment administrator, to the national recovery administration to take over the agriculture codes, newly placed there, appeared today as likely to be decided upon by President Roosevelt as a solution of disagreements in the agricultural department that have delayed action on these important codes.

This prospect developed as the president conferred with Secretary Wallace and Rexford G. Tugwell assistant secretary of agriculture who has been at odds with Peek on the agriculture policies.

Later Mr. Roosevelt had a luncheon conference with Peek, continuing their talk of last night in conjunction with shifting of jurisdiction on the stymied codes.

COUCH IN DEBT TO CHASE BANK WHILE ON R.F.C.

Railroads Enabled To Pay Bank Through U. S. Advances.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Senate stock market investigators were told today that while Harvey Couch, a director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, owed money to the Chase National bank, the R. F. C. made loans to railroads that resulted in payments of more than $10,000,000 to the bank.

Charles S. McCain, chairman of the bank board, an old friend of Couch, described to the banking committee half a dozen railroad loans by the R F. C. which he said permitted payment by the carriers of indebtedness to the bank.

Still Owes $153,000.

He also disclosed that Couch still owes the bank $153,000 jointly with an associate in Arkansas.

Another loan, made individually to Couch, McCain said, was undercollateralized for six months in 1931, but has since been paid.

McCain said the Chase bank received the following payments from railroads as a result of RFC loans: Wabash, $1,550,000, August, 1932; Rock Island, $2,000,000, June, 1932; St. Louis and Southwestern, $4,500,000, April, 1932; Chicago and Northwestern, $1,000,000, September, 1932; Baltimore and Ohio, $1,250,000, (no date).

Loan Cut From $625,000.

The loan still outstanding by Couch to the Chase bank, McCain testified, was originally a $625,000 advance to Couch and C. H. Moses of Little Rock.

McCain, who said he and Couch were old friends, testified they jointly borrowed $625,000 from the Chemical National bank a few years ago, but had repaid it.

He testified that he increased his own Chase loan in 1931 to permit Coach to retire some of his undercollateralized loan.

Chairman Fletcher placed in the record a letter from Couch denying any "irregularity" in his relations with the Chase bank.

$1.30 POUND FOR GRAND CHAMPION

Briarcliff Model Brings $1,582; To Be Served To Chicagoans.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7— (AP) — The grand champion of North American steers, Briarcliff Model, was sold today at $1.30 a pound.

The buyer was Harold Cudney of Cudney & Company, Chicago packers, representing the Palmer House. Steaks from the huge steer, which won the international livestock exposition award, will be sold to Chicagoans for Christmas holiday dinners.

Spirited bidding marked the sale in the pit. The price paid was the highest since 1930 when $2.50 a pound was paid for "Jimmy," shown by J. F. McKenney of Missouri. Last years champion sold for $1.25 and was consumed by residents of Pittsburgh.

Girl Is Slain In Minister's Home; Suitor Is Sought

WILLMAR, Minn., Dec. 7—(AP)—A 17-year-old high school girl was shot to death in a minister's home here last night and police today were seeking a jealous suitor.

The body of the girl, Rubby Haug, daughter of G. C. Haug, president of the State bank of Pennock, near here, was found, covered with boards, in bushes 50 feet from the home of Rev. W. C. Binson, where the slaying took place. Five shots had pierced her body, but officers said they believed the first had killed her.

Rev. and Mrs. Binson, with whom the girl lived while attending school here, were not at home at the time of the slaying but their three children were playing upstairs.

John, 10, the eldest, notified police, who said they were seeking Lyman Solmonson, 31, who had been warned to cease his attentions to the girl. She had complained last week, police said, that he was "pestering" her.

The 10-year-old minister's son told police he and his two brothers were playing downstairs when a visitor came. He seemed anxious to have the boys go upstairs, John said.

"We won't go upstairs until you tell us your name," John said he told the visitor. Then they were informed his name was "Lyman." They went. Later they heard the shots and John called police.

As Rogers Sees It

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 7 — Well, sir, from what I can read and hear, folks stood the shock of geting a drink (without giving their name) in mighty good shape. Course, the ones that are clear "out" we won't hear of for days. But it looked like everything went off better than expected.

You see, the whole problem is getting people from bad drinks back onto good drinks. You take a good bucking horse rider, he would rather ride a bad horse than a nice gentle one. So it's going to take time to get 'em to having a sociable drink without watching the door.

Yours, WILL.

TREASURY NOTES WILL BE ISSUED TO MEET NEEDS

$950,000,000 One Year 2¼ Per Cent Certificates To Be Sold.

FUND TO BE USED FOR MATURITIES

Routine Method Dispels Talk That Greenbacks May Be Issued.

WASHINGTON, Dec 7 — (AP) — Routine methods for raising a billion dollars were chosen by the treasury today in its first big financing operation since gold buying began

Dispelling by its action all talk that greenbacks might be used to meet December maturities, the treasury offered the money market 2¼ per cent for funds to meet immediate needs

Books were opened for subscriptions on $950 000,000 of one year treasury certificates, dated December 15 and paying the 2¼ per cent rate. The money will be used to retire $728 000 000 of obligations maturing on the same date—$473 328 000 of 4¼ certificates and $254,364,000 of bills bearing 3-4s of one per cent

Another portion, $114,000,000, will go to interest payments on the public debt The remainder of more than $100,000 000 will be added to the treasury's cash balance which stands now above $1,000 000,000

By exceeding December maturities by $222 000 000 the financing will push the public debt that much higher It stands now at more than $23,500 000,000 after reaching a low of just above $16,000,000,000 from the war debt peak of $26,596,000,000 in 1919.

Moderate Interest.

Just what effect the gold buying program had on the form of the refunding issue was at question between those for and against the gold policy The former foresaw no difficulty in disposing of the securities and considered the interest moderate, pointing out that more than half the maturing obligations are paying 4¼ per cent

Others contended the gold policy had created a condition in the bond market which required the treasury to use short term credit or pay excessive interest. They said the 4¼ maturities were so high only because they were floated at the time of the bank holiday

The December financing, when completed, will leave considerably more borrowing for the near future There are $460,000,000 of March 15 maturities.

Two Boys Struck By Car On O Street, But Injuries Not Serious

Delbert and Joe Mecum, 8 and 10-year-old sons of Mr and Mrs Daniel Mecum of 2030 N street, were painfully injured late Wednesday afternoon when they were knocked to the pavement by a car driven by Mrs. Frank E. Wright, 3442 M street, at the interscetion of Twelfth and O streets

The boys were taken to St Elizabeth's hospital and treated by Dr W W Carveth, who found that Delbert suffered a slight scalp wound and bruises on the right knee and ankle He was dismissed later in the afternoon. Joe suffered two fractured ribs, a severe laceration over the right eye, and bruises to the right side

According to witnesses, the boys darted out into the traffic of O street from the south curb, directly in the path of the Wright machine, which had just passed the Twelfth street crossing, going east.

BUSINESS MEN ADVISED NOT TO ROCK NRA BOAT

Industry Urged by Kirstein to View 'Promising Prospects.'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Advice which spelled "don't rock the boat" was passed out to American business men today by one of their own number who has been inside the works at NRA.

With labor pressing hard for representation on code authorities, and the administration squeezed between important contending demands, special significance attached to a public statement by Louis Kirstein, Boston merchant, just retired by rotation as chairman of NRA's industrial advisory board, which urged business men to dwell upon long term objectives and view "promising prospects"

The statement, announced as having the full support of the entire board of industrialists, said.

"By its intelligent and reasonable conduct industry can through this temporary experience (the NRA's present two-year career) prove its sincerity and reasonableness and can lead the way to such a permanent basis of improved relations as will endure to the benefit of all concerned"

Self-Government Principle.

This followed an expression of confidence that NRA had so far and would in the future recognize the principle of industrial self-government since "in every code so far made effective, the code administration is definitely in the hands of the industry concerned."

Kirstein's utterance came just a couple of days after labor had put its case for code authority representation down in black and white before Hugh S Johnson. After a first meeting there were reports not confirmed by participants, that Johnson was yielding. The next day these collapsed and participants in the conferences became completely silent. Apparently labor men had some hope of compromise, and Johnson was known to desire a peaceful conclusion to avert at least that much of a row in congress next month.

OFF WATER WAGON.

CHESTER, Pa., Dec. 7—(AP)—Wilfred Green, 24, fell off the water wagon both literally and figuratively, giving him the doubtful honor of being the first man arrested in Chester on a charge of driving while intoxicated since repeal. His truck, loaded with bottled spring water, collided with an automobile yesterday and Green toppled to the street. His arrest resulted and he was held in $500 bail for court.

Indigestion

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 7—(AP)—Henry Rotter, 29 pleaded indigestion when he appeared in District court on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He said he consumed four corned beef sandwiches a dill pickle, some beer, a pickled tomato, two drinks of whisky and some rich French pastry at a party. The judge took the case under advisement.

Natal Baffled By Reserve of Lindy and Wife

NATAL, Brazil, Dec. 7—(AP)—Col Charles A. Lindergh today inspected the monoplane which carried him and Mrs. Lindbergh across the south Atlantic yesterday and found its left wng damaged.

He was out in the harbor long before noon, engaged in a personal examination of the big, red ship.

While her husband labored on the plane, Mrs Lindbergh took the opportunity to do a bit of sightseeing.

NTATAL, Brazil, Dec. 7—(AP)—Natal, accustomed as it is to feting fliers, admittedly had a problem on its hands today in the matter of honoring— or trying to honor—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The smiling taciturnity with which the Americans responded to cheers from throngs that hailed them on thier arrival yesterday from Bathurst, Gambia, Africa, continued to mask their plans and movements.

The usual rumors flew the rounds: flights into the interior, hops along the coast—and even a grand tour skirting the continent. But there was neither "yes" nor "no" from the flying couple officially.

The entire population was out along the harbor when the Americans' big hydroairplane roared in from the Atlantic yesterday afternoon. Cheers were deafening Police battled the crowds to maintain ordr

With Mrs Lindbergh operating their plane's wireless, the famous pair had traveled over the ocean 1,875 miles in 16 hours and 10 minutes—she to become the first woman ever to fly across the south Atlantic.

GLASGOW SHIPPING WHISKY TO U. S.

GLASGOW, Dec. 7—(AP)—Another big shipment of Scotch whisky for the United States will leave here this week-end aboard the American steamer, Winona County, it was announced today

The shipment will compriss between 25 000 and 30,000 cases.

Loading of the liquor cargo, destined for New York, was begun yesterday.

Policeman's Life No Bed Of Roses Answering Citizens' Frantic Calls

No bed of roses is the life of a policeman. In fact there are times, when George Norton, Sergeant Towle and Sergeant Carpenter, who answer telephone calls that come in at headquarters, suspect that this business of being a copper is neither fish, nor fowl nor even good red herring. For instance:

"I live in a rooming house at . . X street and the man in the next room snores so loudly that I can't sleep. Please send an officer to shush him up."

"I have been tipped off that my husband just went into a movie with a blonde Won't you please go down there and arrest this woman and break this thing up Don't put my husband in jail just give him a good scare and send him home."

Two Frequent Requests.

These are relatively common samples of the sort of requests which are often phoned into headquarters and, as you or I or practically anyone else knows, it all must be rather confusing to the man at the desk. Here are two requests which are frequently made:

"Come out here quick. The man next door is beating his wife" "What is the address," the desk sergeant asks "Oh, I can't tell you that; they're friends of mine and I don't want them mad at me."

"They are selling liquor at the place just across the street from me. Why don't you policemen do something about it? Isn't that what we pay our taxes for?" "Where is your house," the desk sergeant asks. "Really, I don't believe I had better tell you that," most informers reply. "I don't want to get mixed up in it"

Examples of this nature can be carried on almost indefinitely, for policemen receive requests to perform all manner of deeds from escorting women home after their "date has ditched them" to stopping roosters from crowing at 3 a. m. Often calls come in from excited women who want a street fight stopped or a suspicious man apprehended, but they hang up before the desk sergeant has time to get the address.

Taken all in all though, Lincoln police depend upon citizens as valuable allies in their daily work They only want it known that complaints concerning suspicious prowlers should be 'phoned in instantly; that always they must have the address, that in some cases the citizens must swear out a complaint before police have the authority to act, and also that there are some things—such as shushing snorers and pacifying roosters — that they can't do anything about.

Simile. Untrue as a true confession.

FORBIDDEN VALLEY

by William Byron Mowery

SYNOPSIS: Curt Tennyson and Paul St. Claire are trailing the international crook, Igor Karakhan, into the Canadian Northwest. At Russian Lake, Curt and Paul have rescued Sonya Nichols from a half-breed; Sonya has told Curt of the Klosohee Indians, remnant of a fine tribe that now hides in the Lilluar mountains. Curt is puzzled by Sonya's faint accent, and a little offended when she lashes out at him for rejoicing in the downfall of the Romanoffs.

Curt played a Volga folksong

Chapter 13.
THE THREAT.

A little after dark, when Curt and Paul were sitting on a chopping block talking over their plans for that night, old John Paxton came walking into the glow of their campfire.

"Have a seat, John," Curt invited, standing up and offering his own place on the block.

He wanted a talk with Paxton, for the guileless old fellow was a mine of information. He was familiar with everybody at Russian Lake, knew every river and range between there and the Yukon. The Klosohees kept all other whites out of the Lilluars, but kindly old John ran his fur path unmolested.

His tent was pitched close to the canoe pier, and his eight sleek huskies were chained along the landwash there, each staked separately, each with its cool burrow dug into the turf. Instead of letting his dogs starve through the summer as others did, he kept a gill net anchored near the islets and caught fish for his team every day.

"Don't git up for me," he bade Curt. "I jist stepped over to say they's goin' to be a leetle potlatch at my camp in about twenty minits. Ralph an' Sonya an' Father Lesperance an' others'll be there, an' I figgered you b'ys might like to j'in us, bein' sorta strangers here."

Curt accepted eagerly. That campfire, where he would meet people and learn things, was an opportunity made to order. And he would get to see Sonya Nichols again, a last time probably, since she was leaving the next day.

Old John went back to his camp. While Paul busied himself making a spruce-tip mattress for their sleeping pokes, Curt leaned against the cache sapling and looked out upon the dark lake, not thinking about his hunt for Igor Karakhan but about Sonya Nichols' flashing eyes and the imperious toss of her head as she read him the riot act.

"Our marooned friend over on the island stands to get a soaking tonight," Paul broke into his thoughts, as a distant mutter of thunder rolled out of the western mountains. "He deserves worse, that ape. You should have let me shoot him."

Curt straightened up. He had forgotten all about the man. "I suppose you're right, Paul. But still, he was so drunk he wasn't altogether responsible. I didn't think about this storm coming on. I ought to go and bring him back."

Slipping his flash and automatic into his pocket, he stepped down to the landwash, launched the canoe and headed across for the islands.

He found the right channel without difficulty and nosed down through it to the island of dead pines. At his hail the 'breed came out to the beach. Curt explained, told him to get in, and shoved off.

On the way back he suggested, "What d'you say, friend?—let's bury what happened this evening."

The 'breed seemed to have been waiting for him to say something, for he blazed out: "W'at beezness did you got come butt in? Dat not your woomans."

"Well, no, but she wasn't yours either, friend," Curt pointed out. He added patiently: "Now let me show you something. Suppose my partner and I hadn't come over there. The girl would have reported you to the Yellowstripes. Soon or late they'd have got you. This country isn't big enough to hold you or anybody else that they really go after. If you look at this right, we saved you from — well, the penalty for what you tried is — hanging."

The ugly word made the man jerk. In the dark Curt could feel the man glaring at him with an animalish hatred. He kept an eye on the fellow and loosened the automatic in his pocket. From experience with that sort, he knew he had made a vicious enemy.

"Damn fools w'at come nose into not-deir-beezness," the Indian growled, "dey sometam mebbe git catched onder a pile of rocks back in de woods somew'ere."

Curt's patience snapped. He stopped paddling, tapped on the gunwale.

"See here you, if you try any rifle talk with my partner or me, you'd better make your first shot good! Hug your grudge if you want to, but if I catch you as much as looking cross-eyed at that girl again, you'll be the one to get cached under a pile of rocks, and I don't mean maybe."

They skirted on ashore. With a low sinister oath by way of goodbye the 'breed stalked off into the dark.

Curt went up to the tent, where Paul was tuning his guitar. Taking a can of cigarets and a box of chocolate squares as their contribution, they stepped out the path to old John's "git-togither."

The company had already gathered.

Curt pulled a log close to the packing box for himself and Paul, and sat down, trying to be as inconspicuous as possible so that he could watch and listen. Somebody in that company might be Igor Karakhan's contact man. A word, a glance, a stray little slip might give him a clue.

He glanced now and then at Sonya, who sat near him, with the firelight shining in her clear eyes and the glow of it tangled in her hair. She had looked up and nodded when he and Paul came, but she did not speak, and he believed that she had cast him into the outer darkness because of his good word for the Leninists.

With no factual reason for thinking so, Curt told himself that Sonya Nichols had known stormy experiences in her life, experiences which had left their mark on her. They had given her maturity and strength of character, but they had robbed her of any lightness of heart.

The question of her nationality still troubled him, and he determined to settle it once and for all. Reaching for Paul's guitar, he plucked a chord or two, and then started a Volga folksong, the only Russian piece he knew. Heads began swaying, moccasins tapping. Watching Sonya, Curt saw that the old melody had caught her too. He met her eye, smiled at her, nodded; and she began singing softly. As he listened to the strange words which came so naturally from her lips, Curt's last doubt went glimmering. Russian, she was!

Tomorrow. Curt gets an unexpected apology.

709 Visitors in 1000 Said:

"FOR CHRISTMAS, I WANT PARKER'S VACUMATIC PEN!"

when reporters for 12 New York and Chicago Stores interviewed people from Every State, at Chicago World's Fair

Thus With Their Own Lips Hosts Have Told You It's the Gift That Will Gladden Their Hearts!

And 70.5% of those who hope to receive this new Sacless marvel now own rubber sac pens

The 12 great Kroch and Brentano Book Stores wanted to find out which fountain pen to feature and stock for Christmas. So they posted two inquiring girl reporters at A Century of Progress, Chicago.

They showed latest model pens of various makes . . . Asked visitors: "Which pen, if any, do you want for Christmas?" And—"Do you already own a pen?"

As soon as people saw Parker's revolutionary Vacumatic Filler, saw how it holds 102% more ink, how its All-Purpose Reversible Point—without adjustment—writes fine on upper side—medium on lower side—

As soon as they saw this breath-taking beauty—laminated—built up ring upon ring of shimmering Pearl and Transparent Amber, which shows the ink within—

709 out of 1000 World's Fair visitors wanted to receive this miracle invention for Christmas. Even among those who already have old pens, 7 out of 10 hoped to get this new-day marvel.

Invented by a scientist at the University of Wisconsin and developed by Parker, the Vacumatic Filler is guaranteed mechanically perfect. Never before a sacless pen like this—without piston pump, valves or faulty parts likely to fail.

So, don't disappoint dear ones—for though they may already have old pens, they will want this revolutionary new Parker Vacumatic Pen—as Santa Claus' World's Fair reporters found out for you.

Go now to the nearest store that sells Parker Pens. The Parker Pen Co., Janesville, Wisconsin.

PRESIDENT FIRM ON SECURITY ACT

Determined It Shall Not Be Weakened in Spite Of Attacks.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—President Roosevelt has informed members of his official family that he is willing to be shown that the federal securities act is interfering with capital flotations

He told them he is determined that the act shall not be weakened, but is maintaining an open mind on modifying portions of it if opponents can prove their contentions. But so far he is by no means convinced that it has forestalled economically and socially proper issues.

The act has been attacked on the ground it has made issuers and corporation directors fearful of accepting the stringent liabilities of the act as administered by the federal trade commission. These enable broad suits for damages against all parties to an issue and many bankers urge modification so damages could be sought only in the amount actually incurred, and against only the persons actually responsible for misstatements.

James M. Landis, member of the federal trade commission and a drafter of the act, has been appointed to Secretary Roper' s stock market committee.

This committee has reached few conclusions so far about stock market legislation The group is cooperating with the banking committee headed by Senator Fletcher, and, Roper says, is subordinate to the senate committee.

Officials say the capital market is sluggish for many reasons other than the securities act.

Mrs. Roosevelt To Entertain 'Widows' Of Gridiron Night

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—The Gridiron boys will be boys, so Mrs. Roosevelt is going to entertain again again for the ladies, including Labor Secretary Frances Perkins, Saturday night.

She issued invitations to high women officials, cabinet wives, gridiron wives, and women of the press, all by their sex barred from the semi-annual stag dinner of the club which the president will attend.

On the last such occasion, Miss Perkins, chatting with other white house guests, laughingly said the club could just as well have invited her along with the rest of the cabinet, for she'd have gracefully declined. She's the only cabinet member ever omitted.

But the Gridiron club already had their rules all fixed to take no chances. That happened after Miss Jeanette Rankin, first women member of congress, became the first and only woman to make the Gridiron grade.

Norris Appears On Behalf North Loup Irrigation Project

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Senator Norris of Nebraska Wednesday told the Mississippi valley committee the North Loup project of Nebraska would not bring new land under cultivation and asserted that in addition to irrigation, power could be sold The committee, set up by the public works administration to coordinate all development in the Mississippi valley, held a closed hearing on the project at Norris' request and will report to Henry M. Waite, deputy administrator. Others attending were E. H. Dunmire, engineer; John Robertson, Norris' secretary, and R. O. Canaday, Tri-county project proponent.

Guernsey Association Will Meet January 4

January 4, during Organized Agriculture week, was set as the date for the annual meeting of Guernsey Cattle Breeders association by the board of directors of the organization meeting in the Cornhusker hotel Wednesday evening.

Discussion of the milk producers code was held, but no action was taken by the group.

E. C. Scheidenhelm, extension dairy agent, gave a report concerning the milk production records of various herds and R. L. Holden, of Lafayette, Ill., fieldman for the national association, discussed matters pertaining to the state and national breed associations. Fred Egger of Roca presided.

Pacific Coast Sunset
When Men Are Lynched
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

SAN SIMEON, Cal., Dec. 7—Some things you cannot describe though you see them clearly.

Nobody has really described Niagara the Pacific ocean, a volcano in eruption, or the wonderful look that a new child brings into this world from the eternity that lies behind us

It is not posible to describe the sunset seen from this coast looking across the Pacific to the northwest. But for the benefit of those that haven't seen it, you can attempt to describe it as prairie dogs chatter about an express that has gone by.

The sun has been down for some time, blue black darkness spreads over from the east There is an evening star hanging high up, in the sky, of such extreme metallic silver brightness, that it seems to stare at and reproach you. Your impulse is to say "I haven't done anything, don't look so hard."

There is intensity in the low-red-long line that spreads low across the horizon that you never saw elsewhere. Nothing was ever like that savage dark red, fighting against approaching blackness.

The smooth Pacific ocean, spreads out, a dark, oily purple. Soon the sun will be rising on its other shore, seven thousand miles away.

The sky, without a cloud, shows every shade of blue, the long mountain range to the east changing from gray and green to black.

War veterans of the east have expelled Governor Rolph of California from their "national advisory board" because he, too hastily, approved the lynching of two kidnapers, at San Jose, California.

It should be remembered that what a man thinks, not what he says, tells what he is.

Tens of millions in this country thought what Governor Rolph said, although their second thought may have modified their first, which was "Thank God those kidnapers are dead."

Governor Rolph said what he should not have said, occupying high office, but he said what at least 98 per cent of those that voted for him thought when they first heard of the lynching.

If public officials were never guilty of a more serious offense than telling what they really think, there would be no need to worry. And there is a good deal of political hypocrisy in the attacks on Governor Rolph.

To condone mob violence is a dangerous mistake Governor Rolph knows it as well as his critics do. But he and others when they heard of the lynching thought first of the unfortunate young man, kidnaped, taken to the edge of the water, knocked on the head repeatedly with a brick, in spite of piteous appeals, bound with wire and, while still alive thrown into the water. That thought was not calculated to arouse sympathy for the kidnapers.

However one violation of law, thoughtlessly approved may lead to others a thousand times more dangerous, and that should be remembered, even when a lynching happens to please us

Worst of all in that horrible mob outbreak, revealing the savagery that lies so close to the skins of "civilized" men, was the statement of a young man that had bragged about leading a group of the lynchers, "we gathered up most of them in the speakeasies, that is why so many of the mob were drunk."

Halt Young Traveler Armed with Toy Pistol

Armed with a toy pistol and carrying $12 for operating expenses, a 10-year-old Omaha boy told police that he was Denver bound, when they found him on a Burlington freight car. He added that it was his second excursion, stating that he started on a previous trip to Chicago. His stories varied as to how he came in possession of the $12. Omaha juvenile authorities were notified and came for the boy early Thursday morning.

DR. LOWE TELLS OF EXPERIENCES

Former N. U. Professor Describes Library Work at Athens.

His experiences as director of the Gennadius library in Athens Greece were described by Dr. C G Lowe, former chairman of the classics department of the University of Nebraska before a dinner meeting of the Faculty Men's club in the University club Wednesday evening

Dr Lowe described the library as being one of the most beautiful buildings in Athens It contains more than 45 000 volumes, he said in which are contained a complete history of Greece and Grecian life from early times until the present

"Its collection of medieval and modern works is unrivalled anywhere in the world" Dr Lowe said, "with the most valuable part of it being the unbroken string of first editions dating back to the fifteenth century"

Dr. Lowe said that a year's study in his library was recognized as being the equivalent of a year's study in any graduate college in the United States

"Outstanding features of the study of Greece carried on by the library," Dr. Lowe said, "are by archeological expeditions in which many students and professors take part. Many interesting details of the early history of Greece have been uncovered by these expeditions."

In discussing the languages spoken in Greece, Dr. Lowe said that it is not uncommon for a native to speak several languages

"I always wanted to see a revolution," Dr. Lowe said in closing, "and I almost missed the chance of my life to see a one-day revolt that was staged while I was there. Students told me that there were soldiers, tanks, and other articles of war lying in the streets and that a revolution was expected I with several students climbed to the top of the library building in order to have a good view of the proceedings We only withdrew when the firing got within a half-block of the building Another bystander who had climbed to the top of another building to watch the proceedings was the only one killed"

Prof. H. H. Marvin, chairman of the department of physics, presided over the meeting, which was attended by approximately 100.

'Typical Freshman'

Ruth Knoderer of Columbus O was adjudged the "typical freshman co-ed" at Ohio State university.

KIRSHMAN TELLS RECOVERY PATH

Says Money Uncertainty Handicap; 11 Bizad Students Honored.

Declaring that the best recovery services of the government consist largely of relief measures designed to aid the needy to stay the forces of liquidation and to support all credit institutions, Dr. J E. Kirshman of the department of economics of the university addressed the annual initiation meeting of Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary business administration scholastic fraternity, in the Cornhusker hotel on Wednesday evening. Eleven members were initiated

Among the initiates were four women students who are the first women ever inducted into the society The list of the initiates is as follows Mary C Albin, Lincoln; Agnes M Capek, Milligan; Alice M Geddes Grand Island, Helen S Selwyn Topeka Kas , Wilbur Haegen, Lincoln Waldemar C Hansen, Upland, Howard N Houston, Lead, S D Bernard Jennings Lincoln, Chester Ruwe, Lincoln William H. Schneider, Lincoln; and Otto Kotouc, Humboldt Need Money Confidence.

Dr Kirshman said that it was the duty of government to restore the confidence of the business man and the consumer in order that the general process of recovery might not be obstructed over the question of money

"The program of public works will temporarily increase the demand for goods and employment," Dr Kirshman said "but it will only be a temporary expedient unless it is followed by an increase demand from other sources. Yes by such a principle as this, increases in wages would aid recovery, provided that prices were held in check so that they did not nullify the rise in demand"

J. Edward Kilgore, president of the society, presided over the meeting and welcomed the new members into the fraternity. Several of the new members were called upon for brief toasts and responses.

Keepsake Jewelry Is Stolen From Newmans

A plain gold wedding ring, an engagement ring bearing the date 1911, and a woman's old fashioned watch were taken from the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. H. C Newman, 1035 South Seventeenth street, within the past week, they told police Wednesday night The actual loss was estimated at $87, but Mrs Newman said the jewelry was worth more as keepsakes.

The articles had been placed in a small box and laid away in a room which adjoins the Newman delicatessen. Mrs. Newman declared that she did not know exactly when the theft occurred as no locks were broken. The theft was discovered when she looked for the jewelry.

BLAZE AT NORFOLK.

NORFOLK, Neb., Dec 7—(AP)—Damage estimated at $2 000 resulted from a fire that partly destroyed the home of Forrest Lear, federal bankruptcy referee here, Wednesday. When the flames broke out, Mr. Lear, who has been seriously ill, was removed to a hospital but apparently did not suffer any serious consequences as the result of the move.

It's Here Now!

Studebaker's

Quadripoise Suspension

LEVEL RIDING

...THE MILLION DOLLAR RIDE OF 1934

LEVEL-RIDING—Studebaker's latest brilliant contribution to motoring comfort—helped to sell more Studebakers last month than in any other November in eight years.

This million dollar advancement gives you level-riding on the turns . . . level-riding on rough roads : : : at 1934 speeds!

Quadripoise Suspension is the result of the expenditure of more than a million dollars in Studebaker's laboratories and proving ground. It embraces not merely one, but a whole series, of closely related engineering achievements.

Why Studebaker Cars Keep Their Balance

This great Studebaker development includes in its scope all four extremities of the chassis, rather than merely the forward half. It embodies the most precisely calculated distribution of chassis weight, body weight and passenger weight.

As a result, the center of the entire weight of the car is less than 27 inches from the ground. The cars are wider (74 inches) than they are high (69 inches). Any Studebaker will retain its balance, even if tilted to an angle of 58 degrees.

Quadripoise Suspension likewise involves spring placement, spring dimensioning and spring articulation. Springs are spaced further apart—another Studebaker innovation! It includes de-synchronization of the various rhythmic impulses inevitably set up by wheels, springs, motor and chassis. It covers tire sizes and air pressures. And it is affected materially by Studebaker's pioneering use of aerodynamic body design . . . Studebaker's skyway style.

The net result? A Studebaker ride is unique The startling new 1934 Studebakers are completely free from shimmy and wheel fight. They never swerve or wander at any speed on straightaway, hills or curves. These Quadripoised Studebakers keep a level keel over rough roads. Rear seats are as free from bumps and jars as front seats. There is a notable absence of pitching, swaying and bouncing.

Unseen but notably evident, Studebaker's Quadripoise Suspension introduces the stability of pyramid design—low weight, balanced weight—Quadripoised weight. Studebaker level-riding is a proved fact. Take your Studebaker ride before, or after, you experiment with other motor cars . . . you will find none so impressively comfortable on any sort of road at any speed.

Five 85% stock Studebakers, in the last 500-mile Indianapolis Race, won 5 of the first 12 places—part of the painstaking program of Studebaker engineering research which produced Quadripoised Suspension.

Level-Riding, as achieved through Quadripoise Suspension, is advanced materially by Studebaker's extremely low center of gravity. The car is wider than it is high. The center of the entire car's total weight is within 27 inches of the ground. Even when tilted to an angle of 58 degrees, the car will return readily to even level.

SLASH IN LIQUOR PRICE DEMANDED

Holders of Warehouse Receipts Accused of Gouging the Public.

Increased Imports In Exchange for American Products Planned.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Determined to bring the prices for whiskies, ryes and other newly legalized potables into easier reach of slim pocketbooks, federal officials today contemplated increasing liquor importations to swell the domestic supply.

Indications of official displeasure over present high prices were numerous Representative Cochran, Missouri democrat, went so far as to urge a drinkers' strike unless quotations came down. Asserting holders of warehouse receipts were gouging the public, he declared "$7 a quart for whisky, no matter how old, is outrageous."

Authority already is out for bringing in a large quantity of Canadian bourbon and rye for blending and other purposes. Blanket licenses also have been issued to importers for immediate shipment into the country of 5,000,000 gallons of spirits and wines.

In addition, negotiations were pressed today with foreign nations for increasing their liquor imports into the United States in exchange for increased importations by them of American products.

Secretary Wallace disclosed the first specific negotiation yesterday in speaking of his corn-hog program He said efforts were under way to allow England to increase its exports to here of Irish and Scotch whiskies in exchange for that country raising its import limit on meat and other farm products.

From the private liquor authorities, meanwhile, came assurances that prices would come down as distribution difficulties lessened.

Chicago Holdups Take $7,500 Cash, Jewelry Coats From Couples

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 — (AP) — Three couples on their way to the International live stock show last night were held up and robbed of $7,500 in money, jewels and wearing apparel by three bandits

The victims, all prominent, and their losses were:

John Mitchell Hutchins, a grain broker, $200, and Mrs. Hutchins, a fur coat valued at $1,800 and a purse containing $7; Ernest C. Rycroft, a broker, $110, and Mrs. Rycroft, jewelry valued at $5,300; William E. Thoresen, president of the Great Western Steel company, $20, and Mrs. Thoresen, nothing.

Mrs. Hutchins saved two rings valued at $4,500 by dropping them into a gutter.

Rail Employment In November Was About Same as a Year Ago

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—A railroad employment level on November 15 approximately the same as during November, 1932, was shown today in interstate commerce commission preliminary statistics

The figures, which excluded switching and terminal company employment, showed 997,502 employed on November 15, an increase of 08 over November, 1932.

The increases were centered in the maintenance of equipment and stores and train and engine services.

Other classifications showed decreases, the largest being 6 03 in the number of executives, officials and staff assistants.

RECORD PAYMENT UPON INSURANCE

Howland Reveals Total $3,100,000,000 Paid In Current Year.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries by American life insurance companies will break all records this year, Chairman Fred A. Howland told the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents today.

By the end of the year, about $3,100,000,000 will have been paid in the form of death claims, matured endowments, annuities, surrender values, dividends and disability benefits Met Test of Depression.

Howland, who is president of the National Life Insurance Co, of Montpelier, Vt, disclosed that this sum is slightly larger than payments last year, when all previous records were broken. Of the 1933 total, he said, $2,175,000,000 goes to living policyholders and $925,000,000 to widows, orphans and other beneficiaries

Current conditions have emphasized life insurance's place as a trustworthy reserve in time of stress, he said

"The test has been severe," he added, "but the response has been adequate"

Policies Total $95,000,000,000.

Despite the depression, he declared, the volume of life insurance in force at the end of the year will be about $95,000,000,000, only 5 per cent less than the $100,154,000,000 in force last year.

Edgar N Rhodes, Canada's minister of finance, laid before the convention a plan designed to control, if not entirely eliminate depressions. He said this could be done by cutting public works expenditures to the bone in normal times, and using the funds thus saved to expand public works in periods of stress.

Aftermath of Lynch Arrests

How the eastern shore of Maryland feels about Gov Albert S. Ritchie's action in calling out troops to arrest lynch suspects is indicated by the interpretation of NRA borne by autos throughout the district, where there is a growing movement to oust the govrenor Meanwhile, the freed suspects, three of whom are shown, await grand jury action. Left to right, Irving Adkins, William McQuay and William Thompson.

Judge Permits Book Called "Filthy" to Enter United States

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—The genius of a half-blind Irishman has radiated across the sea and induced a judge to unlock America's gates to a famous pariah of bookdom.

A decision by Federal Judge John M. Woolsey, admitting James Joyce's "Ulysses" to this country, was hailed today by foes of censorship, champions of modern literary trends—and even the federal prosecutor, Samuel C. Coleman.

Burned by customs men, denounced as "filthy" and obscene through years of raging controversy, the massive volume has finally won through to a place of legal respectability.

In a decision that was expected to have far-reaching effect in judicial definition of the word "obscene," Judge Woolsey ruled last night that while the book might be "somewhat emetic" to some readers, "nowhere does it tend to be an aphrodisiac."

"I have not found anything that I consider to be dirt for dirt's sake," he said.

"Ulysses," a combination of naturalism and symbolism, is the epic of the spiritual wanderings and trials of a modern Ulysses—a Dublin Jew named Leopold Bloom.

For eleven years the book had circulated in bootleg channels in the United States, and (so it is said) it was studied in at least one leading university.

Correct this sentence: It was a big song hit popular throughout the land, and the words made sense.

FARM RESEARCH GIFT BY LEGGE

Leaves $500,000 Bequest For the Formation of 'Foundation.'

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(AP)—The late Alexander Legge, president of the International Harvester Co, was shown today in announcement of the formation of a "farm foundation" to have been vitally interested in the welfare of the farmer up to the time of his death.

Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden made the announcement yesterday after funeral services for Legge had been held, and said that his will be filed soon in Du Page county, Illinis, wuld include a $500,000 request to the foundation in addition to previous donations amounting to $400,000

Research and experimental work in problems of production, marketing and purchasing with the idea of effecting a co-ordination of agriculture with the industrial, financial and mercantile life of the country was listed as one of the objectives of the foundation

The board of trustees is headed by former Governor Lowden.

A five-point program adopted last February, Lwden said, included the following principles:

1 The encouragement and development of co-operative effort and community organization

2 Research and experimental work in problems of production marketing and purchasing with the idea of effecting a co-ordination of agriculture with the industrial financial and mercantile life of the country

3 Provide encouragement, financial or otherwise to universities or other groups undertaking such research

4 Acquaint farmers with information developed from surveys and study

5 Encorage the intellectual and cultural interest and opportunities of rural life through community action.

U. S. CONTINUES GOLD PRICE FOR THE SIXTH DAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—The government continued a six-day-old gold price today as it entered the money market to borrow $950,000,000.

The RFC quotation of $34 01 an ounce was the highest since gold buying began But it was the same fixed just before Thanksgiving Since that time, with the price for newly mined domestic gold the same, the government bond market has been firmer.

In London, the offering for bar gold today was $32 22 an ounce on the basis of sterling opening at $5.11½ to the pound.

Dollar a Cent Higher.

LONDON Dec 7—(AP)—The United States dollar, following an irregular foreign exchange session, closed at 5 10¾ to the pound today one cent better than yesterday's overnight rate of 5 11¾.

New York Settles Down To Legal Drinking; Demand For Wines Large

BY DALE HARRISON.

NEW YORK Dec. 7—(AP)—Business was popping around town today with all the pep of a cork from a bottle of champagne.

Activity at liquor warehouses made the places look like the bleacher entrance to the Polo Grounds at a world series game

Wine and liquor stores were so busy that one of them had to call the police to disperse lines of customers at closing time.

Smart hotels were gleefully reporting record business Some, despite large stocks of liquor, found their supplies near exhaustion even before the cocktail hour yesterday.

Drivers of liquor trucks worked as long as 24 hours at a stretch—tired but glad. One wine firm had made deliveries of 16,000 cases early today and was still far behind in filling orders.

Department stores selling liquor found their aisles packed like a rush-hour subway train. Most customers asked for rye, but if there was no more rye they took gin; and if no gin, then brandy.

The demand for wines was surprisingly large Claret and sherry were the favorites, but ports and tokays had their enthusiasts. Even the upper strata beverages — the sparkling burgundies and champagnes—were moving off dealers' sheves at lively speed.

Sidewalks Jammed.

Macy's cash register marked 2,000 liquor sales an hour. The sidewalks in front of Gimbel's were jammed, and the sales force was quickly augmented so that here, too, an hourly hourly figure of 2,000 sales could be handled

The line in front of Bloomingdale's was four abreast. The liquor department noted 10,000 sales when the closing bell sounded last night.

Imported Scotch was not to be had in pacgage late yester afternoon, the supply having been quickly gobbled up—or down. Liners and freighters are arriving daily with cagoes from Europe. The Cameronia of the Anchor line will dock Monday with 28,000 cases Wines from the California wineries are pouring in by the carload, and are finding a strong demand.

Signs reading "cocktails are now being served" decorate the windows of restaurants. The Childs restaurant chain is serving beer and wines between 8 a. m and 5 p m. with cocktails after that hour

Under Speakeasy Scale.

Prices are under the speakeasy scale in most places. Domestic wines are offered as low as 20 cents a glass. Cocktails range from 30 to 50 cents

A shortage of expert dispensers has been noticeable An order for a dry martini cocktail at one restaurant required 20 minutes in fulfillment, and finally arrived with a red cherry nestling a bewildered outcast, where a green olive should nave been

The snap-up of business was contagious, with other lines of trade showing better figures on the sales tape.

Committees Named For Annual Smoker

Committees for the annual smoker and good-fellowship meeting of the senior and junior chambers of commerce have been announced, as follows:

Master of ceremonies, Al Forke, paraphernalia Fred Graves chairman and Lloyd Marti stunts Leo Soukup, chairman Walter Battey, Dergi T J Thompson, Dana F Cole Reception and registration Dr H A Askey, chairman, George Lemon Dick Johnson prizes Harry Kauffman chairman, Ben Heitkotter, refreshments, George Rokahr chairman, Earl Middlekauff John Hollingsworth, publicity, Prof F C Blood, chairman; boxing, Harry Pecha, chairman

Presidents and heroes, kings and empire builders, have written their names indelibly on The Blackstone register. Salute!

Each new day sees someone far above the throng gracing The Blackstone portals. Yet rates, under the newly revised scale, are so low that even "modest folk" may enjoy this distinguished hospitality.

TODAY it is no different than when Oliver Twist said "I want some more". Growing children and grown-ups always want some more cranberry sauce or jelly or cranberry pie. You will want more too after you have tried Cranberry Nectar:—

2 cups sugar, 2 apples (cut in eighths), 2 cups water, 2 cups cranberries, 2 oranges (sliced).

Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Add sliced apples and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Add cranberries and oranges; cook for ten minutes longer. Serve cold with meat or poultry, or as a dessert.

Ask your dealer for free cranberry recipe cards. You will be surprised how good these recipes are.

Sally Eilers, charming Fox star

"YOU can have the kind of Skin men can't resist"—says Sally Eilers

"I'd like to tell every girl: DON'T be satisfied with just an 'average' skin!" says this beautiful screen star.

"It's the complexion with something more . . . the soft luminous quality of true loveliness . . . that men can't resist! And this beauty can be yours . . . with my complexion care. I've used Lux Toilet Soap for years because it keeps my skin so incredibly soft and smooth.

"Try it for your complexion. Use it regularly . . . faithfully . . . as I do. Then see how soon the delicate new loveliness of your complexion is noticed—admired—adored!"

Girls the country over are discovering that they need no longer be satisfied with a complexion that just "gets by." Hollywood has shown them the way to exquisite loveliness . . . the irresistible kind of beauty that wins—and holds—hearts!

Actually 9 out of 10 lovely Hollywood stars use fragrant, white Lux Toilet Soap because it keeps their skin soft, smooth—young-looking.

It will do this for you, too. Try it! Begin today.

Precious Elements in this Soap—Scientists explain:

"Skin grows old-looking through the gradual loss of certain elements Nature puts in skin to keep it youthful. Gentle Lux Toilet Soap, so readily soluble, actually contains such precious elements—checks their loss from the skin."

Nebraska Legionnaires Hosts To Commander; Code For Bankers Of State Sent To Washington

HAYES TELLS OF LEGION PROGRAM

National Commander Is Speaker at Banquet At Omaha.

OMAHA, Dec. 7—(AP)—Three hundred Omaha American legion members, augmented by outstate leaders, heard National Commander E. A. Hayes discuss the four point program of the legion here last night and declare for a "sound dollar." He explained that the four point plan will be the main legislative object of the legion at the coming session of congress.

Commander Hayes told a banquet audience he had no intention of criticising the administration on the economy act but that he thought there was room "for an honest difference of opinion."

The Legion, Hayes said wants the government to study carefully the dangers of inflation before any step is taken in that respect.

"We want to know that the fellows who were mained in the war, and from whom a great deal already has been taken in the way of benefits, will be receiving a dollar that is worth a dollar and not 30 or 50 cents," he said.

Discussing the four point rehabilitation program adopted by the Legion at its Chicago convention, Hayes made it plain at the outset that his remarks were not intended as adverse criticism.

"But when we differ honestly in opinion with the chief executive, then it is our job to say in terms which cannot be misunderstood, what we were told to say by the convention," he asserted. "There is no great difficulty involved in that."

Oppose Russian Activity.

The national commander said the Legion is opposed to allowing the doors to be opened to the revolutionary activities directed from communistic soviet Russia, and is insistent that the principle is right for the government to hospitalize disabled veterans who cannot reasonably hospitalize themselves.

Referring to reductions already made in compensation for service connected cases as "a slap in the face" to disabled veterans, Hayes said "There must be an immdiate restoration of the payments heretofore made for line of duty compensation status as they were in existence prior to March 20."

Hayes said hospital facilities should be made available for every honorably discharged veteran who is not reasonably able to take care of his own hospitalization.

Among those attending were H. H. Dudley of Lincoln, Golden Kratz, state commander, of Sidney, and R. M. Armstrong of Auburn.

Three Boy Scouts To Receive Eagle Award At Ceremony

Three Lincoln Boy Scouts, Irving McMichael, troop 9; Frank Roth and Joe Seacrest, troop 18, will receive scouting's highest rank, that of Eagle scout, at the December court of honor Thursday night in the high school auditorium.

Boy Scouts having the music merit badge will present a thirty minute musical program and two recently composed songs of the scouts will be sung.

Dr. E. H. Barbour, chairman of the court of honor, will be in charge of the ceremonies.

Farm Contests On Streets Of City

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—Farm contests moved to town today as the American Legion opened its three-day rural activities contest on Nebraska City's paved streets. Corn huskers abandoned rows in tilled fields to enter a shucking contest with the corn shocks placed on the pavement. Hog calling and other farm contests also were scheduled for each of the three days.

Hitler Cheered By German-Americans

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Madison Square Garden thundered to Nazi cheers last night as 20,000 gathered for the long delayed German day celebration of the Steuben society of America.

Fifteen persons—eleven men and four women—were hustled from the hall by police when they attempted to demonstrate. All were released after the meeting. The crowd cheered good naturedly as the officers quickly pounced on disturbers and there was a minimum of trouble.

Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador to the United States, in the principal address, made a plea that his country receive a grant of equality among other nations and the right to regulate her own affairs from within. He asked the audience, as Americans of German extraction, to "study the truth about Germany and not to be satisfied with incomplete reports whose correctness is so often contradicted and inherently questionable."

POLK TEAM HONORED.

POLK, Neb., Dec. 7—Coach Neal Gallant and the Polk high football team was honored this week at a banquet given by parents of the team members.

The lettermen for the year are Newton, Strand, Widga, Peterson, Mills, Dahlberg, Stromberg, Bedient, seniors, and Ice, Ekdahl, Willits, Fisher, Wright, Warnick, Branting.

Jerome Widga, left end for two years, was elected honorary captain. Polk made a fine showing the past season, winning from Osceola, Nebraska Deaf, Ulysses, Clarks, Silver Creek and Stromsburg, getting a tie with Genoa, and losing to Fullerton and Concordia Academy.

Banker Indicted

Carl W. McKeen, president of the largest bank in Topeka, Kas., was one of seven indicted by a federal grand jury investigating the Kansas bond forgery case.

Nebraska Waltons May Leave League

Consider Quitting National Organization and Setting Up Independent State Body.

The Nebraska division of the Izaak Walton league will hold a special convention in Grand Island, January 23, to consider a proposal to withdraw from the national organization and change the name of the state unit, according to an Associated Press dispatch Thursday morning from Columbus.

Ward C. Betzer, Lincoln, president of the league in Nebraska said Thursday morning that the directors met at Columbus Wednesday evening and the decision to call the special convention was made then.

"I believe that we should stay in the national organization, Mr. Betzer stated. "I feel that the national affiliation should be retained in order to accomplish more, especially in conserving migratory waterfowl."

He also stated that the sentiment for a separate organization of Nebraska sportsmen crstallized out of a desire for increased membership under a lower membership fee, was a belief that too much money was being sent to the league's national headquarters in Chicago. As a separate unit it was thought possible to decrease the annual dues to one quarter of the present dues, Mr. Betzer said.

If a change is approved at the Grand Island meeting an organization will be put in the field to work for a larger membership and in the interest of Nebraska sportsmen.

Rulo Again Hopes For Water Works

FALLS CITY, Neb., Dec. 7—After waiting for 13 years, Rulo citizens are hoping to have water works. In 1922 after a water plant had been built but no mains, John Futscher and others brought an action against Rulo officials, enjoining them permanently from building the mains. The order against assessing property holders for funds for the project was upheld by the state Supreme court. Now the Rulo chamber of commerce has decided to request a CWA allotment for the money being principally for labor.

ROBBER HOLDS UP OMAHA DRUG SHOP, FILLING STATION

OMAHA, Dec. 7—(AP)—A methodical holdupman last night robbed a drug store and a filling station here, obtaining $400 at the former and $15 from the latter.

The larger amount wos obtained at the Gould drug store, Fortyninth and Dodge streets, where the man forced Robert Carter, the manager, to open safe and two cash registers while he kept several employes lined up. The other robbery took place at the oil station of Charles Flott at Twenty-ninth and St. Mary's avenue.

Farmer Seriously Injured As Tractor Rolls Over On Him

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 7—William Rohe, 45, Clatonia farmer, is in a hospital here seriously injured, the result of a tractor rolling over on him last evening while pulling out tree stumps along a creek with the machine. His hip was broken and his pelvis crushed.

New Bank at Aurora Expected Open Soon

(Special to The Star.)

AURORA, Neb., Dec. 7—The new First National bank in Aurora has been approved by the Reconstruction Finance corporation in its Omaha office, so far as the purchase of 200 shares of preferred stock is concerned. The recommendation of the Omaha office went into Washington Tuesday, and with the approval of the national office, then the $20,000 of preferred stock which the government takes in this new enterprise, will be assured.

With both common and preferred stock and the surplus of $10,000 paid in, the new institution will be in position to step forward rapidly toward opening up as an unrestricted bank. Just as soon as the approval of the national office of the Reconstruction Finance corporation is received on the 200 shares of preferred stock, apparently the organization of the new bank can be perfected.

OLD ORGANIZATION TO FIGHT THIEVERY

FALLS CITY, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—After an interval of seven years, the Central Protective association has been reorganized in Richardson county. Forty of the members in the organization when it ceased activity in 1926 and 12 new ones have organized. The association is one of the oldest of its kind in the United States. It was established more than 70 years ago and has been in Richardson county 58 years.

Mrs. Bald is survived by her husband, four sons and one daughter, Mrs. Dan Oswald and Harold of Aurora; Dr. Arno Bald of Platte Center; Harvey of Denver, and Frank Bald of Wood River.

FAIR PRACTICES PROVIDED FOR Agreement Reached By Representatives Of All Groups.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—At a conference here, attended by twenty-six bankers from various parts of the state, representing all of the seven groups of the state organization, a uniform service charge and fair competition schedule was worked out in co-operation with the Nebraska bankers NRA committee.

The features of the adopted code most noticeable as deviating from former treatment, involve the handling of outside items, penalties for overdrafts, charges for the numerous services which banks have been rendering gratis, and the handling of unprofitable accounts, an analysis of which accounts indicates a loss to the bank.

The adopted code, after separate approvals by each of the seven districts, has gone to Washington for final approval and is expected to become operative in Nebraska Jan. 1.

The State Bankers association anticipates an early public announcement of the details of the code.

Airport Projects To Be Studied By Committees Sunday

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—Dr. W. W. Arrasmith, state supervisor of the aeronautics branch of the civil works adminstration, has called a meeting of civil works and Legion committeemen to be held here Sunday afternoon.

The purpose of the meeting will be to outline all pending airport projects, to assist Governor Bryan in obtaining immediate action. It is the desire of the government, Dr. Arrasmith said, to have all projects prepared and work actually started by Dec. 15.

He expects to have a large number of proposed projects on hand for inspection Sunday morning.

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 7—Marriage licenses have been issued here to Wayne N. Marples, 31, Blue Springs, and Florence E. Mason, 23, Wymore; Noah M. Wiegand 26, Beatrice, and Helen C. Kiesow, 24, Wilber.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Suits To Recover For Taxes Paid On State Owned Lands

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—D. Z. Mummert of Blair, and C. D. Clements want their money back for tax certificates erroneously issued against state land, which they purchased. They have appealed to the District court here from refusal of the county board to allow their claims for $289 and $86 on the certificates against about 200 acres of state owned farm land near here.

The land was bought by the state from O. H. Liebers in 1920, but the property was not removed from the tax books and subsequently they bought the tax certificates. The county board said proceeds of the certificates had been distributed to the various governmental agencies and was irrecoverable.

INJURED BY FALL.

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 7—Mrs. Helen Schlegel, 75, sufferod several broken ribs and other injuries in a fall at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harley Shaw, here Tuesday evening. She was taken to a local hospital.

PERU STAR OFFICERS.

(Special to The Star.)

PERU, Neb., Dec. 7—Peru chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, has elected these officers: Mrs. Lillian Brady, worthy matron; Dr. N. S. Harajian, worthy patron; Mrs. Carrie Coatney, associate matron; L. D. Redfern, associate patron; Mrs. Jessie Mardis, secretary; Mrs. Norma Coatney, conductress; Mrs. Lucy Adkins, associate conductress, and Mrs. Illinois Neal, treasurer.

Are jangled nerves making you a grouch?

You are really another person when you are suffering from jangled nerves... You snap out sharp comments, make unreasonable criticisms that sting. Of course, you are sorry later—but you may have alienated your family, a loyal employee, or a good friend...

Watch your nerves. Get your full amount of sleep every night. Eat regularly and sensibly. Find time for recreation. And smoke Camels... for Camel's costlier tobaccos never get on your nerves.

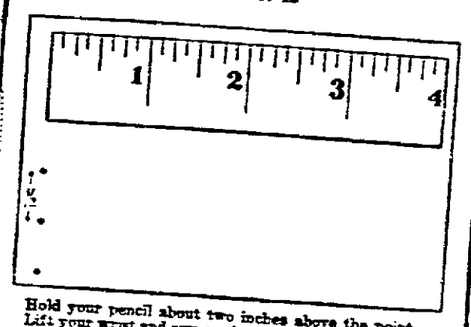

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand of cigarettes!

TEST No. 12

Hold your pencil about two inches above the point... Lift your wrist and arm so they don't touch the table... Place the point of the pencil on the first dot... Close your eyes and draw a line exactly four inches long... Repeat the process a second time, then a third time. See how nearly correct your lines are. A good score is within one-eighth of an inch for each line.

Hugo Johnson (Camel smoker), Paramount News cameraman, drew two perfect 4-inch lines and one line only 1-16 of an inch off on the first try.

Society Not Yet In Mood For Holidays

Takes Final Fling Before Plunging Into the Christmas Whirl.

DINNER dances and dinners for this reason and that, have filled up the week's calendar in various social groups—last minute affairs before one settles down to the business of Christmas with a vengeance, almost to the exclusion of anything else.

ONE OF THE DINNERS, complimenting two very nice reasons, was given Wednesday evening by Dr. and Mrs. J. E. M. Thomson at their home. Thirty guests were invited to the buffet dinner which honored Miss Charleen Edwards of Hollywood, Cal. and Dr. Fred Ferciot—and if one wants to go in for between-the-line-reading—well, its a very good pastime.

Anyway, following dinner the evening was devoted to bridge. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. O. V. Calhoun, who recently have come to Lincoln from Cleveland to reside.

AND AS A COURTESY to Dr. and Mrs. Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Seacrest will preside at a dinner Saturday evening at their home. Twelve guests have been invited, and bridge will be the after-dinner diversion.

OTHER INTERESTING people are also incentives for an extra whirl or so this week. Mrs B. J. Denman, for instance, who arrived this morning from Chicago to spend the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Hubert Schaddalee and Mr. Schaddalee, was honored at a luncheon and bridge foursome today for which Mrs. Schaddalee was hostess.

Friday, Mrs. George Lee will be a foursome hostess at luncheon as a courtesy to Mrs. Denman.

Mr. Denman will arrive in Lincoln this evening and will remain until Sunday when he will accompany Mrs. Denman to Chicago.

THEN THERE IS the dinner dance at the Eastridge club Saturday evening which is attracting quite a number of members and their guests. Among the reservations which have been made for the party so far, is a no host group of twenty-six which includes Mr. and Mrs. Homer Henderson, Dr. and Mrs. Corol E. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Weiss, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eager, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Freadrich, Dr. and Mrs. E. V. Millard, George A. Brown of Portland, Ore., and his daughter, Mrs. John B. Chambers, Mayor and Mrs. Fenton B. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wagener and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Freadrich.

ATHLETICS ARE doing the social stunt Monday evening, for the members of a bridge club which is composed of wives of coaches, are entertaining their husbands at a dinner and Christmas party at the University club. Dinner covers will be placed for twenty, and afterwards there will be bridge and a Christmas grab bag. Mrs. Ed Weir and Mrs W. L. Day are in chafge of the party.

ARRIVING HOME this evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Reg Roper, who have been spending ten days in Okmulgee, Okla., the gusts of Mr. Roper's sister, Mrs. Earl Colton and Mr. Colton.

MRS. WALTER GARDNER went to Omaha today where she was the honoree at a luncheon for which Mrs. Frank Conlin was hostess. Mrs. Conlin is one of the members of the Tuesday Musical club board in Omaha.

AND THEN THERE is the news of the marriage of two former university students — Miss Kathryn Ruegge, daughtr of Jule Ruegge of Falls City, to Varro Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rhodes of Auburn. The wedding will be an event of Friday, December 15 at the Episcopal church in Falls City.

Miss Ruegge is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Mr. Rhodes has degrees from Michigan and Nebraska universities and is a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity.

WARREN M. E. MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING.

The Women's Missionary society of the Warren Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. W. Hackman, 4327 Starr street. Twenty members attended the business meeting after which they were entertained with a play presented by the Queen Esthers. Four grandmothers were special guests of the group. The holiday season was suggested in the refreshments which were served at the close of the afternoon.

GO-HI PINOCHLE CLUB WITH MR. AND MRS. BRODT.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brodt entertained the Go-Hi Pinochle club Wednesday evening at their home, 220 South Twenty-sixth street. Jack Barney made the high score, Mrs. Barney, the second, and Mrs. Al W. Swanson, the consolation. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Riley are new members of the club. Late in the evening, supper was served at the foursome tables. The club meets next Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Barney at their home on R. R. No. 1.

The Idleawhile club met for luncheon yesterday with Mrs. George Baker at her home, 1801 Washington street. The eight members spent the time with 500, in which Mrs. J. H. Kennedy made the high score and Mrs. L. A. Ahl, the second. Refreshments were served.

Members of Our Gang club met for their Christmas luncheon and party yesterday with Mrs. J. T. Short at her home, 610 South Twenty-fifth street. A miniature tree centered the table and the appointments carried out the seasonal theme. In the afternoon, three tables were placed for pinochle, with Mrs. Alta Jackson making the high score, Mrs. Carleton Wells, the second, and Mrs. Short, the low. Mrs. Harry Nourse was a club guest. The meeting January 3 will be with Mrs. W. J. Flannigan at her home, 2974 Dudley street.

Three tables were placed for pinochle yesterday, when the Chat 'N' Bid'em club met with Mrs. Ruth Summers at her home, 1807 P street. Mrs. Haven Hurst made the score for high prize and Mrs. A. L. Ex-Policeman Held On Lynch Charge

Zook Charged With Murder in Connection With St. Joseph Case.

ST. JOSEPHO, Mo., Dec. 7—(AP)—A former policeman has been charged with first degree murder in connection with the lynching of a negro; two other men are in custody on lesser charges, one having pleaded guilty, and investigators continue a roundup of mob leaders who directed the hanging and burning last week of Lloyd Warner, 19-year-old confessed attacker of a white girl.

John F. Zook faces the murder charge. His arraignment was scheduled for today. He denies he took part in the lynching but officers said he had been identified by witnesses as a leader. He is alleged to have tossed gasoline on the negro's body before it was burned, after the hanging.

Since leaving the St. Joseph police department several years ago, Zook has worked for a packing plant.

William O. Sawyers, an assistant attorney general in charge of the investigation, said Roy McKittrick, attorney general, may come here for the convening of a grand jury next Monday. More than 50 lynching witnesses have been subpoenaed to testify before the jury.

JOHN KELLY HEADS MASTER PAINTERS

COLUMBUS, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—John Kelly of Fremont Wednesday was elevated from vice president to president of the Nebraska Council of the International Society of Master Painters and Decorators at the organization's eleventh annual convention here. He succeeds H. P. VanSickle of Lincoln. William F. Cramer of Omaha was chosen vice president and E. H. Brown of Omaha was reappointed secretary-treasurer.

Mac Betterton of Columbus and R. G. Dorway of Omaha were elected members of the executive board for two years, and Ed Havens of Lincoln was elected to the board for a three year term. Executive board members holding over are R. C. Hahlbeck of Wayne and Frank D. Cocklin of Lincoln.

Omaha Natural Gas Case Argued Here

Supreme Court Hears Contentions For And Again Packers' Introduction Of Fuel.

Whether Omaha packing concerns had the right to bring natural gas into the city under a permit from the city or whether permission should come from the Metropolitan Utilities district through a vote of the people was the question submitted to the Nebraska Supreme court Wednesday in an injunction suit instituted by two Omaha citizens.

The citizens, James V. Chizek and Mark M. Shaw, were denied an injunction by the District court of Douglas county and appealed, while the packing concerns, Armour, Cudahy, Swift and Dold, continued with the project of laying pipe from the Sarpy county line to connect with the Northern Gas and Pipe Line company system.

Benjamin S. Baker, attorney for the appellants, called the city's action a "subterfuge to break down the will of the people of Omaha," and the packers' plan a "gigantic scheme" to destroy the value of the utilities district."

J. A. C. Kennedy, Omaha, representing the packers, said introduction of natural gas is the "salvation of one of Nebraska's major industries," and George A. Lee, attorney for the pipe line company, Seymour Smith for the city of Omaha and Dana B. Van Dusen for the utilities district, upheld the plan.

APPROVE $27,039 MORE CITY WORK

State Body Gives Final O. K. To Number Of Local Projects.

Commissioners E. M. Bair and L. O. Oberlies Thursday were preparing to start operations on a number of new CWA projects, funds for which were given final approval Wednesday afternoon by the state emergency committee. The projects include the removal of street car tracks in South street from Tenth to Seventeenth; Tenth street, P to T; Thirteenth street, O to N; and permanent improvements in the parks. The total cost of these is $17,514.

In addition to the street and park expenditures the state committee approved the expenditure of $2,000 for reconditioning library buildings; $7,915 for renovating and repairing school buildings and equipment, and $480 for clerical work in the county relief office.

The afternoon approvals increased the city's allowances for the day to $27,039, the board having approved $9,525 for three recreation centers, at the forenoon session.

Wages Boosted 10 Per Cent By Packing Firms

18,000 Men are Affected, Including Workers at Omaha, Kansas City.

CHICAGO Dec. 7—(AP)—Higher wages today brought cheer to thousands of male employes of the packing industry.

Topping the list of companies that announced increases approximating 10 per cent were three big Chicago concerns—Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and Wilson & Co. About 18,000 men were affected.

Swift's and Armour's increases of 4 cents an hour were for both unskilled workmen and employes in the higher wage brackets, while a similar advance at Wilson & Co., was for the unskilled classes. The boosts brought the unskilled hourly rate in Chicago to 46½ cents an hour, retroactive to December 2.

Some 1,500 workmen, skilled and unskilled are affected by the 10 per cent increase at the Armour & Co., plant in South St. Paul, while 1,800 at the Swift & Co. plant there enjoyed a similar increase, as did employes of these companies at St. Joseph, Mo., St. Louis, East St. Louis and Omaha.

At Omaha the Cudahy company granted a similar increase, as did Armour & Co., at Kansas City.

The increases which were expected to extend eventually to 15,000 workmen, followed conferences with employes' organization.

Doctors Give Creosote For Dangerous Coughs

For many years our best doctors have prescribed creosote in some form for coughs, colds and bronchitis, knowing how dangerous it is to let them hang on.

Creomulsion with creosote and six other highly important medicinal elements, quickly and effectively stops all coughs and colds that otherwise might lead to serious trouble.

Creomulsion is powerful in the treatment of all colds and coughs no matter how long standing, yet it is absolutely harmless and is pleasant and easy to take.

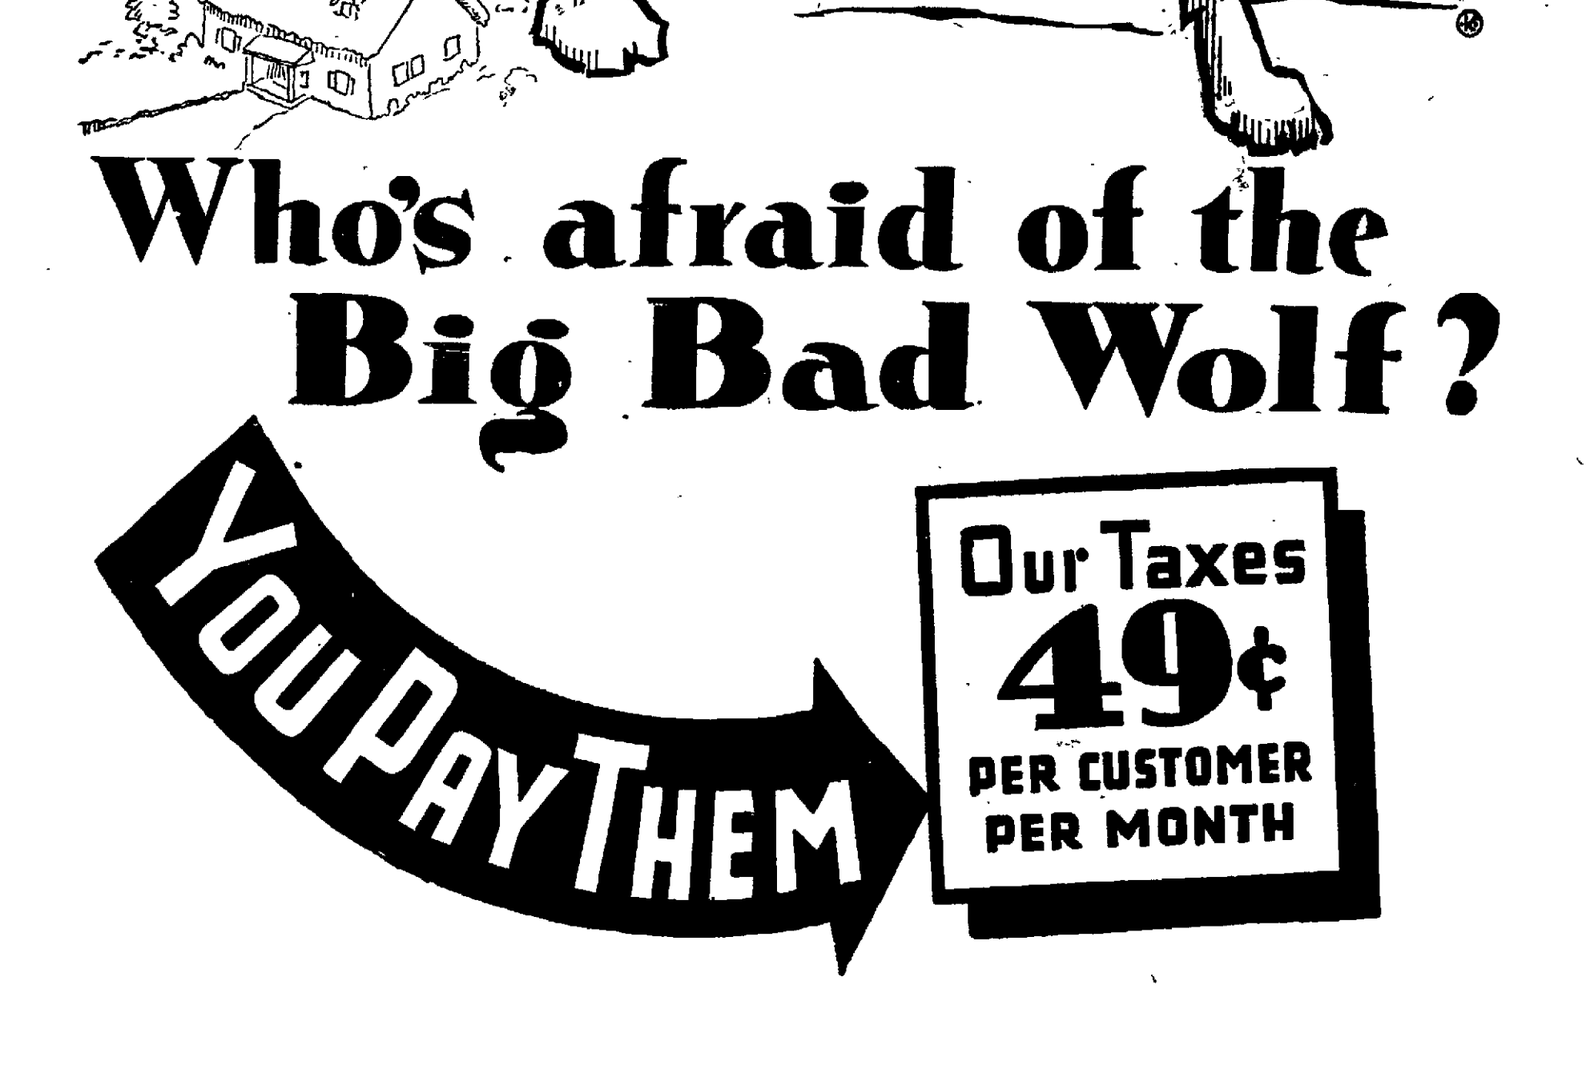

Your own druggist guarantees Creomulsion by refunding your money if you are not relieved after taking Creomulsion as directed. Beware the cough or cold that hangs on. Always keep Creomulsion on hand for instant use. (adv.)

Of each monthly electric service bill 49c is for TAXES. Our tax bill last year was $317,142.72. This year it will be over $400,000.00 and will include 33 different kinds of direct taxes. This huge sum must be paid. The money comes from your pockets and those of other users of electricity. You have just cause to fear the big, bad wolf because YOU pay the bill. IF ELECTRIC COMPANIES DID NOT PAY TAXES THEY COULD SUPPLY EVERY FAMILY IN THE UNITED STATES WITH FREE ELECTRIC SERVICE FOR FOUR MONTHS.

ELECTRICITY IS CHEAP IN LINCOLN

Low electric rates here bring cheap servants to every home; happiness and cheer to mothers and wives. Though the NRA has caused many prices to go up electricity has STAYED down and is now a bigger bargain than ever before.

ROOSEVELT IN BITTER ATTACK ON LYNCH LAW

California Governor Indirectly Rebuked In President's Speech.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—President Roosevelt is convinced the nation will not tolerate lynch law.

Speaking to the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America last night, he made plain his belief that America seeks a government of its own "that will be sufficiently strong to protect the prisoner and at the same time to crystallize a public opinion so clear that government of all kinds will be compelled to practice a more certain justice."

The younger generation, the president added, "is not content with preachings against that vile form of collective murder—lynch law."

In a rebuke, softened only by his failure to mention names, Mr. Roosevelt condemned "those in high places or in low who condone lynch law." Gov. James Rolph of California recently gave verbal approval to the lynching of two kidnapers at San Jose.

The judicial function of government, the president reminded his listeners, is the protection of the individual and the community through quick and certain justice. That function, he added, in many places "has fallen into a sad state of disrepair."

"It must be part of our program to re-establish it," he said.

Turning to a common objective of church and state, President Roosevelt described it as "a more abundant life."

Churches and governments, he said, can work hand in hand toward a new definition of prosperity —prosperity "socially controlled for the common good." He assured the council that it can be "a prosperity built on spiritual and social values rather than on special privilege and special power."

"From the bottom of my heart," the president said, "I believe that this beloved country of ours is entering upon a time of great gain. That gain can well include a greater material prosperity if we take care that it is a prosperity for a hundred and twenty million human beings and not a prosperity for the top of the pyramid alone."

Rolph Remains Silent.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7—(AP)—Gov. James Rolph, jr., who voiced approval of the recent San Jose lynchings, declined to comment last night on President oRosevelt's Washington speech to a church convention, excoriating lynching ad inferentially rebukig the governor, but not by name.

The governor indicated he possibly might have some comment later.

Bids Taken On Heavy Trucks to Clear Snow From Drifted Roads

Six bids for furnishing three trucks of 5 to 7 tons weight, constructed on the four-wheel drive principle, for the state road department's use in claring snow from highways during the winter, were opened Thursday morning in the state purchasing agent's office, along with seven proposals on the same number of snowplows to go with them.

Purchasing Agent Farris took no action on any of the bids, other than to refer them to the state engineer's office for comparison as to efficiency of th machines, and to performance tests made.

For the various types of trucks offered, prices were quoted ranging from $5,814 up to $7,560. The range of bids on snowplows was from $536 to $1,750. Several of the firms submitted figures on two to six different machines each.

NEW PWA FUND IS IN PROSPECT

Washington Opinion In Favor More Works, Says Fleming.

When present appropriations for PWA expenditures have been used up, public and civil works programs of the federal government are not going to stop abruptly, in the opinion of Mayor Fenton B. Fleming, who returned Thursday from a business trip to Washington, D. C. "Go anywhere," he said, "and all you hear is talk of further appropriations by congress as soon as it convenes the first week in January."

The mayor said he talked with several congressmen and senators, and almost without excepton they said "new appropriations will be made among the first things we do." Generally the amount was fixed at six bilions.

Sentiment in Washington, and throughout the east, the mayor said, is that economic recovery through the NRA is being hampered more by the lack of confidence, than any other factor. The general belief, he added, is that there is a noticeable trend toward better conditions.

The mayor also said that inflation is discussed more in the national capital than any other subject. "As near as I could learn fro mthose with whom I talked," he said, "opniion in the east is about equally divided on the subject."

Implement Dealers See Bright Future For Their Industry

OMAHA, Dec. 7—(AP)—C. R. Peters of Des Moines, member of the farm implement industry's national code committee, today led a code discussion before the annual convention of the Midwest Implement Dealers' association. Delegates will select their representatives on the national code authority committee for code administration.

Peters said the industry's final code draft "is just about as good as we could hope to get," although he asserted the preliminary drafts were participated in by men "who knew about as much about farming in the middlewest as you or I do about digging gold in the congo."

Speakers addressing the opening session of the convention late Wednesday predicated government money will soon break the dam that has been holding back the purchase of farm necessities.

President Albert Kaasch of Scottsbluff, Neb., based such a prediction on reports from Oklahoma and Texas implement dealers.

"Farmers who got cotton money bought a lot of implements and other farm supplies and we will get our share in this territory as the volume of corn and hog loans rolls up," he said.

Personality Is Best Expression Of Ideas, Declares Rev. West

"Many great ideas are best explained in terms of personality," Rev. Victor West told members of the Knife and Fork club Thursday noon at the Lincoln hotel, speaking on "Personality in Achievement."

"Many words would be needed to tell all about democracy, yet its story and struggle can be put into one name: Abraham Lincoln. The story of religion would require many words but its explanation can be found in one name: Jesus Christ."

Rev. West pointed out that personality is spiritual and not physical and that personality is the major factor in attaining successful relationships with man. He defined personality as, "The unconscious impact one conveys in his association with his neighbors and friends."

$4,600 ASKED FOR AIRPORT

Lincoln's Application For Special Fund Is Filed With Bryan.

City Engineer D. L. Erickson late Wednesday filed with Governor C. W. Bryan an application for funds to pay labor to make betterments at the municipal airport. His estimate was $4,600, of which 20 per cent will be for materials. The money will be used for resurfacing the runways, graveling, grading, painting a sign, and levelling and seeding on the west side of the field.

According to Mayor Fleming, who returned Thursday from Washington, D. C., the money is available through a recent allotment by the federal government for airport improvements. He added, however, that the maximum allotment cannot exceed $3,750, of which 20 per cent can be for materials.

The city's application for $7,205 for the removal of car tracks from Holdrege street, Twenty-seventh to Thirty-third street, was approved Thursday by the county emergency CWA committee, and filed with the state committee. Of this $6,480 will be used for labor. If approved by the state board, E. M. Bair, head of the street department, said, this project will be the next one started.

Thursday morning, L. C. Oberlies started a second force of 45 men working in the parks, increasing his crew to 90 men. They work 30 hours each a week, three days at a time, Mr. Oberlies said.

Park projects approved by the state board late Wednesday will be started Friday, Mr. Oberlies said. He will not know how many men he will need until late Thursday afternoon. The shelter house at Oak Creek park lake will be started first, he said.

TOUHY GANGSTERS ARRIVE IN CHICAGO FOR KIDNAP TRIAL

CHICAGO, Dec. 7— (AP) —Roger Touhy, gang leader, and three henchmen accused of kidnaping John Factor, arrived here today from St. Paul and were taken immediately to the state's attorney's office in the criminal courts building.

With Touhy were Gus Schafer, Eddie McFadden and Albert Kator. Touhy, Schafer and McFadden were acquitted at St. Paul of kidnaping William Hamm, jr.

Willie Sharkey was acquitted with the three, but hanged himself in his cell in St. Paul three days later.

Meanwhile State's Attorney T. J. Courtney was conferring with United States District Attorney Dwight Green in an effort to keep Factor in this country until he can testify against the Touhy quartet. Factor, who is wanted in England in a $7,000,000 confidence game charge, recently lost his appeal against extradition in the United States Supreme court and Courtney is afraid that if the extradition order is executed immediately, he will lose his principal witness.

Relief Agency Is Purchasing Hogs At Eight Markets

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(AP)—The Federal Surplus Relief corporation is buying hogs at eight of the leading markets in the nation, but how many and for what purpose livestock men were unable to say today.

Word that the government was buying hogs had been rumored around the yards for several days, but were generally believed only today. The prices paid are the prevailing ones asked by sellers. It was said Armour & Co., was doing the purchasing.

The eight markets are Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, South St Paul, St. Joseph, East St. Louis, Sioux City and Indianapolis.

The utmost secrecy surrounds the purchases. About the only thing known certainly is that only good and choice butcher hogs from 160 to 300 pounds were being taken.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

The brother kings of Denmark and Norway are both sons of Frederick VIII, king of Denmark until 1912. Christian X, present king of Denmark, succeeded his father to the throne. Charles, Christian's brother, and second son of Frederick, married Maud, daughter of Edward VII of Great Britain and became king of Norway in 1905 as Haakon VII.

The marine worm (Autolytus cornutus) reproduces in a manner known as "alternation of generations." That is to say, every other generation is sexless—the sexless individuals producing sexual individuals, and vice versa.

In the sexual generation the female lays eggs which hatch into sexless individuals. These in turn multiply by budding. In this strange method of reproduction a second head sprouts on the tail, this head grows a new tail, another head sprouts on that tail—and so on for as long as the first one lives. Sometimes a chain of 40 worms fastened head to tail may be observed. In other cases they break off as fast as they grow. The worms of this generation, however, are male and female. Thus the cycle begins anew.

Although he had survived 100 ring battles without injury, and had faced death and injury thousands of times during his 10 years as a steeplejack, Otto O'Keefe, of Philadelphia, suffered his greatest injury while he was doing nothing more than timing a boxing match. He was standing upright, then turned to take a step and, without falling, stumbling, or being hit, he broke his leg. Even O'Keefe does not know how it happened.

Talks to Parents

Vanity

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

It is the most natural thing in the world for little children to take an interest and pleasure in clothes and especially in new ones. They do it instinctively and with no encouragement from the adult world.

Continued to a later age and carried to an extreme, such an interest becomes unpleasant and boring, for it ceases to have the artless charm of babyhood and becomes vanity.

How to draw the line where to stop is the parents' problem. To discourage the little child too much savors of unnecessary snubbing, and it requires tact and sympathy to understand the child's pleasure and yet keep it from over-stressing the importance of dress.

Our grandmothers would have said drily, "Handsome is as handsome does," and changed the subject. On the whole it was not a bad idea, and might in modified form prove useful even with the most modern generation.

A short examination to see whether face and hands are in keeping with the new clothes sometimes serves as a reminder that fine feathers do not always make fine birds. The child who has taken the trouble to groom his person to harmonize with his clothes deserves credit and should receive it, but with emphasis rather on the general appearance than on the clothes.

After all, the whole question is one of emphasis. In an environment where clothes are the chief topic of conversation the child is apt to take on protective coloring and do as he sees those about him do.

If he is permitted to change his clothes constantly, is reprimanded every time he romps and warned not to get mussed or dirty, he is naturally going to over-estimate the importance of dress.

He should be taught as far as possible to take clothes for granted as an adjunct to life, not as an essential.

Clothes

There is no fixed rule which can be made to cover the reactions of children to the way they are dressed.

Some children are clothes conscious seemingly from birth, others may change at adolescence from utter carelessness to the fussiest care.

The less a child is obliged to think about his clothes the better. If he feels that his clothes are unsuitable or in any way unlike those of his companions, he is apt to develop a feeling of inferiority and to cover this may either become shy and apologetic or self-assertive and boastful, according to his temperament.

In the one case, he may in time develop a permanently deprecatory attitude which will make him the butt of his companions' criticisms or jests and turn him in upon himself. In the other he tends to become an eccentric, in self-defense glorying in his dissimilarity to the crowd.

There are, of course, children so well balanced that they can stand the trial and emerge quite normal, but there are so few of these that it is hardly worth while taking the cause on the individual, at least until he is old enough to reason and make his own decisions.

The simpler and less noticeable a child's clothes are, the better. Plain and simple things always can be made to fit into the prevailing style by some slight modification or addition. And what the child really desires is protective coloring, which will allow him to submerge himself in the crowd.

Where possible it is well to let him make his own suggestions about his wardrobe so long as he keeps it within the bounds of taste and economy. He knows best what the requirements are and how he can most easily make himself indistinguishable.

Drain of Gold From Bank of France Less

PARIS, Dec. 7—(AP)—The drain of gold from the Bank of France moderated during the week ending December 1, said bank reports today.

During that period its coffers lost 450,000,000 francs as compared to the decrease of 1,500,000,000 francs during the previous week.

The bank notes in the meantime increased 1,740,000,000 francs reducing the gold coverage to 94 from 97 per cent.

REPUBLICAN SOLON FEARS AMERICA IS 'GOING TO HELL'

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7—(AP)—Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, assistant republican leader in the senate, predicts Franklin D. Roosevelt will not be president more than three years from now.

It looks, the senior Ohio senator told Ohio republican leaders here yesterday, like "we're going to hell."

Senator Fess denounced the administration's monetary course, the operation of the federal relief program and the national recovery program.

"No government can spend itself into prosperity," Fess said attacking the relief administration which he termed "commendable in purpose but not in operation."

The recovery program is a direct violation of the law of supply and demand, he said.

"We're facing the most stupendous deficit in history and that's only a beginning," Senator Fess charged.

A MEMORIAL TO NELSON.

WHEN William R. Nelson arrived in Kansas City, it was an ugly western town, of unprepossessing mud streets, of one-story frame buildings, and with a surplus of cheap politicians. He had been fired with an ambition to go west by his friend Greeley. Nelson finished his labors a few years ago, after a colorful career in American journalism, after building one of the great newspapers of America through the sheer force of personality and rugged ideals. He had created not only a great newspaper, but he was a very vital factor in the development of a delightful American city of beautiful homes, magnificent parks, attractive streets, and flourishing business institutions.

There is to be held in Kansas City next Sunday evening a preview of the opening exhibition in the William Rockhill Nelson gallery of art and the Atkins museum of art. It is an event which richly deserves widespread attention from the newspapers.

For, through the vision and the generosity of the late publisher of the Kansas City Star, the middle west, the great agricultural domain of America, has come into an art museum of the first rank. Mr. Nelson left his millions to it. The major portion of his fortune, wealth created through untiring and courageous newspaper service over a period of more than a half century, has gone or will go into this art treasure. The trustees of the William Rockhill Nelson trust have entered upon their duties with the painstaking care that such a task requires. They have been deliberate in their choice, with the result that the selection of art treasures they have made arouses universal commendation.

With admirable fitness, the William Rockhill Nelson gallery of art symbolizes the life and career of its founder. Mr. Nelson was of the pioneer type. In the founding of his newspaper, in combatting the abuses he found existing in Kansas City, in lending himself fully to the development of the community, he filled a pioneer role. No worthy cause ever found him indifferent in his attitude toward it. More frequently, he was ahead of his associates and of his fellow townsmen, for he had an uncanny faculty of peering into the future and discerning the things that should be done. He was a pioneer in street development and improvement. He blazed the trail in urging adoption of Kansas City's truly magnificent park program. He had a hand in planning the boulevards. He fought the crooked politicians and the ward heeler with relentless vigor. He gave Kansas City a warm, human, appealing newspaper, expressive of the spirit of independent thinking and imbued with the high ideals of clean and wholesome living.

Any number of forms of philanthropy might have caught Mr. Nelson's eye, for he was public-spirited, sympathetic, but none could have been so expressive of the man himself as the art museum bearing his name and owing its existence to him. It does represent a novel adventure. Here in a region with only a hundred years separating it from wilderness has been assembled the choice treasures of world culture. It has been said that in this empire so dominantly agricultural in its daily tasks, there was no taste for art. No one, it is to be believed, squirmed under such superficial and ill-founded comment more than Mr. Nelson in the closing years of his life. He had come to love the region and its people. He had pride and faith in them. He knew them and he sensed in them the things to which they aspired and which they lacked.

There is inspiration in the example furnished by a great journalist in turning back his fortune to the people, for their development culturally. These have been lean, rough years since 1929, with actual privation, suffering, and destitution. They have been cleansing and purifying years for people. And beneath them is the injunction that life values are not complete with the filling of the pocketbook. That is the moral of all art, all culture, and all civilization.

BETTY CO-ED.

THE one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the first institution of higher learning to adopt the principle of co-education was celebrated last Sunday, and serves as a forceful reminder of the progress of free education.

Oberlin college, where women were admitted, was founded December 3, 1833, in the heart of what was then a wilderness.

Once, the old tradition was shattered, the educational opportunities for women made rapid advance. The middle age attitude toward womanhood, even that which prevailed until the last century, is not understandable to the present generation.

HORSES AND FARMERS.

WHEN the Spaniards landed in America they found no horses, either wild or domesticated. Such animals had existed in this hemisphere in prehistoric ages, but they had become extinct, and the mustangs and other wild horses which afterwards became so numerous were the descendants of the animals brought over by the Spaniards and others. They had either broken away or been turned loose and they multiplied rapidly.

It took hundreds of years for the breeders and importers of the United States to build up equine strains adapted for every purpose, and then, with the advent of the internal combustion engine, practically all of the progress that had been made went for naught. For draft purposes particularly, the waste and lack of foresight in this regard has been appallingly devastating. Now, happily, there are numerous indications that the horse is coming back, and that on the farms, at least, that noble animal is again to come into its own.

At the meeting of the Horse Association of America in Chicago Wednesday addresses were delivered by two men who have given years of study to this subject and who probably are as well versed upon it as any in the United States. A. B. Hancock, president of the organization, said that the American farmer is suffering from "too much gas engine." And he went on to say that more horses and mules produced during the last thirteen years would have meant more land in pasture and feed crops, more grain used on the farms, less accumulated surplus of market crops, better prices for farm products and less mortgage debt.

H. J. Gramlich of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture spoke along the same lines, saying that "our farmers fully realize that the surplus of agricultural products has been materially accentuated by the vast decrease in the number of horses." He predicted that there would be a switch back to horse drawn implements as soon as horses can be procured.

Of course it does not take a profound student to at this time realize the truth of what was said by these eminently qualified men, but when the tractor began to displace the horse, it seemed that there would be no limit to our markets, and we were all for speed and mass production. We were convinced that the horse had become a back number and that the "machine age" had arrived for all of us.

It was just another of those errors, to which all mankind is prone.

LOVELY LADY.

ETHEL BARRYMORE'S recent criticism of Philadelphia club women will meet with popular approval or resentment, according to individual views of club activities on the part of women. Some will glory in it as a properly administered rebuke, while others will be equally frigid in viewing what they regard as an unforgivable breach of good manners and a violation of the gentlewoman's instinct.

After all, that particular feature of the lecture Miss Barrymore delivered to the 300 members of the Philadelphia Lecture assembly is not nearly so important as is the change in Miss Barrymore herself. If Will Rogers were to say it, he probably would remark that he didn't know the old gal was that kind of a spitfire. On the stage, Miss Barrymore is best known and best remembered to her audiences as a gracious, soft-spoken woman. We always have thought that her greatest gift was a glorious voice, softened and strengthened by unusual understanding and tolerance. It is hard to visualize an angry Ethel Barrymore, a woman with flashing eyes and biting words. She was so good upon the stage in exactly the opposite type of role that it is impossible to imagine her in any other. We always spoke of her as the queen, of regal and unruffled bearing, and while we knew that queens did lose their tempers, and queens did become indignant in the face of what they felt was an injustice, somehow we had the idea they always reserved that side of their natures for the royal bedroom. But Ethel exploded in public, and what she said to her Philadelphia audience was plenty, and we hope both she and it felt better afterward.

ANDY FIZZLES AS A FINANCIER.

IF ANDREW GUMP'S own claims are taken at face value, he was in his younger days quite a fellow at athletic pastimes as well as a mighty hunter; but it is quite patent to anyone who has followed his ups and downs in the comic strip that Andy is never going to set the world on fire with his financial genius.

In that particular field, one can be sure, the family laurels will have to be upheld by Uncle Bim, who has accumulated a vast fortune in Australia, and by young Chester, who recently went out west and won a $5,000 reward for the capture of a gang of desperadoes. Andy may delude himself with the notion that he has a shrewd head for business; but the cold facts prove him a "bust."

When he borrowed that $10,000 and went on a wild spending spree, in the belief that Bim had been done away with and that the Gump millions were about to come into his possession, Andy showed very poor judgment. He should have waited until he had the money before starting to throw it at the birds.

That wasn't the worst of it, either. He signed a note to repay the loan in 30 days at the rate of 6 per cent a month. He couldn't raise the dough, of course, when the note came due, but with Bim's help he did manage to scrape enough together to make up the $600 interest. Then a new note was given, and another $600 has now come due. Meanwhile, Andy has gone off to see Chester, and the minions of the law are about to throw Min and the family belongings out into the street.

Just like a man, isn't it? Well, like some men, anyway.

For the present, Tilda holds the fort with her broom and rolling pin. Eventually, no doubt, Bim will discover the family's plight and come to the rescue by peeling off a huge bill or two from his roll to cancel the debt.

Will Andy learn anything from this experience? The answer is: No. He will go right on bragging about what a keen wizard of finance he is, and about being a selfmade man, and all that; but everybody knows that if it weren't for Min, Bim, and Tilda the Gump household would be on the county a long time ago.

THE LAW'S DELAY.

SO LONG as administration of justice meets with delay in law enforcement, particularly in cases involving violent crime, there is the constant temptation to mob violence. This comment in no way constitutes a defense of mob action, but it does suggest one of the primary causes of it, and the urgency of correction.

Virtually every state in the union is confronted with a criminal code and with criminal procedure of archaic design. It came down to us as a heritage of a past in which there was justification for giving every accused person the greatest measure of protection from persecution by despotic governments. Today, the situation is reversed. The generosity of the protective measures thrown around the individual endanger the welfare of society.

There have been repeated attempts to correct those conditions which breed delay and which frequently defeat substantial justice, but the influence of a small element of lawyers of an unscrupulous type has succeeded in defeating reform. Long ago, the English people rewrote their criminal code, in order to make it possible for law to function effectively and with celerity. The technical fences which cause delay and uncertainty have been leveled. Justice has become swift and sure. The immediate task before the legal profession in America is to reform legal procedure.

DIVIDEND NEWS.

PROBABLY the most encouraging symptom of business recovery in the United States just at this time is the large number of corporations that are resuming the payment of dividends which they suspended a year or two ago. They are enabled to do so by reason of getting back upon a more or less profitable basis. The fact that some return can now be made to shareholders, who were previously deprived of their customary income, is very convincing evidence that substantial improvement has already taken place.

The prime object of the national recovery program and its related federal activities is to augment the purchasing power of the people. The first step was to establish scales of living wages for the workers in private trade and industry, and increase the number of jobs. Next came the movement, now well under way, to transform relief dependents into wage-earners.

Dividend payments to stockholders of corporations will have the same effect on collective purchasing power as putting idle men and women back to work. The money thus paid out will find its way back into the channels of trade, thus helping to enlarge the demand for farm products and manufactured articles. All kinds of business will get some of it; and as factory, mercantile, and transportation operations expand it will mean a further broadening of employment.

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. QUESTION.

What do you think of the remarks of Colonel Von Papen that was is as much man's national vocation as bearing children is that of a woman's?

ANSWER.

If he actually made it one is puzzled to decide whether he is getting childish with advancing years or is just another the stupidity of stupidity of Junkerdom who should be officially repudiated by Germany. If you know that 9,998,771 soldiers were killed or died in the late war, and that 20,297,551 were wounded. Moreover at its peak in 1918 its daily cost was estimated at $224,000,000.

Yet this year the nations are spending more than than $10,000,000 daily on their armies and navies, of which amount the United States spends approximately $2,000,000 daily. If the world's expenditures for armaments could be accumulated for one year they would pay the expenses of the League of Nations for six hundred years. Nevertheless I note occasional outbursts in the correspondence columns of the European and American newspapers against the staggering cost of the league Studied in the light of these ghastly facts Colonel Von Papen's words, if uttered serve to prove that whom the gods would destroy they first drive mad

Beyond question, his form of militarism is madness, and more, it is a type of insanity which has in it infinite potentialities for wholesale destruction The comparison he makes between the male and female functions should be alternated to read as follows: It is woman's vocation to give life and war's vocation to destroy it

QUESTION
Davenport, Iowa.
What is Karma? How does Christianity differ from Hinduism?

ANSWER.

Karma is the Hindu doctrine which teaches that every deed that has ever been done produces its fruit, of which the doer must eat in due time. His present lot is the accumulated result of his past actions and his future will be determined by the unexpended consequences of his actions in this or a previous existence.

Karma presupposes a continuous process of reincarnations. The human soul must return to earth again and yet again in a body conditioned by that soul's former manner of life, and there is no end to this return until a perfect life has been lived out in the flesh.

Hinduism is never more elusive than when we try to define its terms. Perhaps a comparison between it and Christianity serves best at this point. The Christian believes that the Christ of God became man for our salvation, was tempted as we are, triumphed over all obstacles, delivered his followers and the world from the doom awaiting sin and game them eternal life.

The Hindu believes that all visible life is one vast illusion which the eternal powers controlling life use to emphasize their significance. Therefore he seeks to rid himself of bodily influences, desires and physical surroundings in order that he may escape from what he feels is a state of deprivation, dependence and impotence.

On the other hand, Christ's disciples see Him as most divine when He was most human. Had we been living when He was crucified and wandered anywhere in search of God we should have been nearest to Him in this broken Sufferer on a criminal's cross. Such is the glorious paradox of the religion of Jesus. Its disciples rejoice in life here and now because it is the pledge of perfect life hereafter. They suffer to rise to higher things. they die once to live forever, and find beauty and goodness in the humblest surroundings, They go back to a stable to worship their king and salute Him as Lord or all when He hung on the holy rood.

QUESTION.

What in your opinion can be done to save China from chaos and dissolution?

ANSWER.

One of the basic facts to be kept in mind is the collapse of the old China. The problems to be solved arise out of the birth of the new China. Neither aspect of this complicated condition should be underrated. In art, in poetry and in philosophy, in ingth of duration and vastness of scale, in certain qualities of courtesy and of social distinction, Chinese civilization has an indispurable claim to a place among mankind's highest achievements.

But it made the usual blunder of ancient nations by staying too long unreformed because it was fascinated with its great history. This state of mind makes the transition from the old to to new China exceedingly difficult, and consequently the devoted group of patriots who are attempting her restoration to order and security are overtaxed and bewildered.

They need help from abroad, it China is not to fall under the exclusive influence of any one foreign power. Her leaders have co-operated to this end with the League of Nations, and from all I can learn both parties are satisfied with the result. The American relief organizations and missionary societies, as well as those of Great Britain have rendered outstanding service to the distressed and burdened people of China.

She presents a tremendous challenge to the combined energies of the western nations. A very great and ancient society is passing out. Its successor is struggling to find a foothold under difficulties which can hardly be exaggerated. If she is to survive as a nation there must be carefully planned and concerted action by the world powers to whom China's permanence means a peaceful and prosperous Orient.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

HOW FRAGMENT OF PEANUT M AY ENTER BRONCHIAL TUBE

A special form of respiratory difficulty is due to the inhalation of peanut shells or fragments of peanut shells into the bronchial tubes.

Dr. Clendening

This is particularly likely to occur in young children. Any part of the peanut can set up an irritation if so inhaled, but the shell has the property of being especially irritating to the lung tissue, and sets up a condition which has been frequently described under the term, "peanut bronchitis."

The symptoms can hardly be overlooked, although the cause may be obscure. The child goes into a very distressing fit of choking, gagging, coughing and wheezing. There may be intervals of days when there are no symptoms, and then they recur with all their original severity, or even more. The mucus produced by peanut shell or peanut kernel is especially tenacious and impossible for the child to bring up by coughing.

The only treatment which has been found to be of any value is to remove the peanut particles through the bronchoscope, a tube which is passed into the chest through the open vocal cords.

A case which illustrates this was a little girl, two years old, who had been given some peanuts by her grandmother. While eating them she had a severe coughing spell and gagged and vomited, but did not get relief. When she finally quieted down and went to sleep it was noticed that her breathing was accompanied by a heavy wheeze. The next day her temperature rose. This went on for four days when it was decided to attempt to remove the foreign body which was suspected.

The bronchoscope was introduced, and a large amount of very tenacious, purulent secretion filled one of the main bronchial tubes. When this was removed several small particles of neanut were seen and removed. She improved for a few days after this, and then the symptoms occurred as before. The bronchoscope had to be reintroduced and it was found that the same sort of tenacious secretion filled up one tube. After the removal of this and some other particle of peanut which had been overlooked at the first examination, she made a rapid and complete recovery.

The lesson to be learned is that it is not safe to give a very young child nuts of any kind, or fruits or vegetables that have small seeds, which could possibly be inhaled. But of all the possibilities, including beans, watermelon seeds, strawberry seeds and raspberry seeds, the worst is peanuts on account of the special ability already mentioned to cause widespread lung irritation.

Just Folks

THE BEGGAR.

They mark me by the coat I wear and never glimpse my dreams.
They never seem to see the pain beneath these ragged seams.
I'm just another man to them who pass along the way
Who may have had a business once but failed to make it pay.

They see the grime upon my face,
my features drawn and thin.
But not the thoughts that fill my brain when night comes sweeping in.
Sometimes they hear the words I say and give a dime to me.
But that great hope I'm cherishing
I know they never see.

They pass me by with just a glance upon my shabby dress,
I think they've seen too many men who've made of life a mess.
And so they treat us all alike and never stop to think
That some of us are slaves to fate and not the slaves to drink.

They never see the throttled pride that lumps my aching throat;
They only see my cold blue hand,
my thin and tattered coat.
With "yes" or "no" they pass me by and nothing I can say
Convinces them how hard it is the beggar's role to play.

NOTES

Just to show that everybody does not always agree with me.

A reader in Wiscinsin writes: "You are 'all wet' with reference to the idea of exercising care about the mixtures of food we eat I am 67. Up to the time I was 60 I always was in bad health and then I ran across a method of diet. First, I separated the eating of bread and acid fruits together. I think perhaps that habit was the king pin of my evil ways in eating. When a man's health begins to improve at 60 and keeps it up for seven years, there is some good reason for it, and in my case the only reason has been observance of the dietic rules that do not meet your approval."

From Freeport, Me.: "I am glad to have Dr. Egon V. Ullman on my side. I believe colds are not infections and are not brought on by a person's diet. Anyone can have a cold, if he wants it, any time, hot or cold weather, by getting chilled and sneezing."

Nature is kind, and brush now hides most of the rusty lamp posts in boom time subdivisions.

One way to write a book of the month is to take a Dumas novel and do it over in Hill-Billy dialect.

Gentle hint to those who knock Roosevelt's plan: offer him a better one and he'll probably listen.

People's Forum

(Forum communications to The Lincoln Star should be limited to 500 words. The letters to this department represent the individual views of the writers and may or may not express the views of this newspaper.)

The Farmer's Side.
Tobias, Neb., Dec. 3.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am tempted to write a few lines and say how we are getting along in these depression times.

I have read a letter of Mrs. L. C., and it may be all that she says is so, but we farmers can't say that we are better off in some ways than before the depression.

All farmers around here got old-looking and grey-haired in these hard times and lots of them lost all they made in their whole life and now don't even have a place to go, to start over again. They don't have teams or machinery to start with and no one to help them.

All the rest that are holding on can't even pay all the taxes and the interest. How long can they last? The farmer isn't trained to do anything else and if he loses once he never can get any hold so he could make a living.

Then too, Mrs. L. C. writes that for the first time in her whole life she does all her own work—washing, sewing, cleaning, cooking and so on. A farmer's wife has to do all that and lots of them have to carry all the water for a long distance from the well and everyone of them has a big garden. There is a lot of work there and everyone raises a flock of chickens—from 500 to 1,000. And who raises chickens, she only knows what that means and how many hours of time it takes.

Now, is that an easy life for a woman? Everyone of them raises more children than their town sisters and they send them to school as they should. We don't get any pay for all of our work in cash every month. We have had drouth and hail storms that some years we don't get any crop—others, only half a crop.

This winter will be worse than all those others. Everybody is out of bed clothes and everything else and no money to get new ones. What little cream and eggs are sold buys groceries and not all that are needed.

Poultry was so cheap too that it didn't pay to raise it. Everybody had to do it to get along and when we sold it, it wasn't worth anything. Now, I read in the Lincoln Star that in Washington there were unemployed people served a chicken dinner Thanksgiving and are planning a Xmas chicken dinner for them. They think they are helping the farmers with that but they are helping the storage people. Farmers sold their surplus and storage men are making the profits.

It is the middle men that are making money more than anybody else. If farmers are going to go broke, who will make the living for the city people?

I am an old grandmother but all we have and ever had, my husband and I had to work for and if we lose it who will take care of us. Our children couldn't because they are standing on shaky legs, as we are.

We are not the only ones. There are thousands like us.

I have written to you several times but never have seen my letters in the paper. I would like to see this in print and I hope that it helps we farmers a little.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Sammy Jay Has a Good Time

The greedy and the selfish find
It fun to do things most unkind.
—Happy Jack.

"What do you mean—what has happened?" demanded Mrs. Happy Sharply.

There had been just one way for Happy Jack Squirrel to reach the feeding shelf at the window of Farmer Brown's house and now that way had been destroyed. The limb by which he had jumped from a tree to the top of a blind had been cut. Imagine Happy Jack's dismay when he discovered this. Sitting there in the tree he could look down and see the food spread on that shelf. He watched Sammy Jay and Yank Yank the Nuthatch and Tommy Tit the Chickadee getting their breakfast there, stuffing themselves greedily, and knew that there was no possible way for him to get a share.

Presently Mrs. Happy Jack joined him in the tree. "Have you already had your breakfast or were you waiting for me?" she asked.

Happy Jack shook his head sadly. "I haven't had my breakfast and what is more neither of us will have breakfast on that shelf. Worse still, I don't believe we ever will eat on that shelf again," said he.

"What do you mean? What has happened?" demanded Mrs. Happy sharply.

Happy Jack showed her where the limb had been cut so that they they could no longer get near enough to leap across to the top of the blind. She understood at once. "Who could have done it?" she asked.

"It must have been Farmer Brown's Boy," replied Happy Jack. "Do you know what it means?"

"It means that we will have to look elsewhere for our breakfast," replied practical Mrs. Happy.

"And it means that our worries are not over as we thought," said Happy Jack. "It means that we may have to depend on the supplies we have hidden, and you know as well as I do that they are not sufficient. I didn't think Farmer Brown's Boy would treat us like this. No sir, I didn't that."

Meanwhile Sammy Jay had been cooking an inquiring eye in their direction. Sammy had been wondering why Happy Jack had not been down on that shelf. He was sure that Happy Jack couldn't have had his breakfast yet. Now Mrs. Happy was there yet neither made a move to get to that shelf. Why? Sammy began to suspect that something had happened. He left the feeding-shelf and flew to the top of the tree in which the Happy Jacks sat. His sharp eyes miss little. Almost at once he saw the cut branch and in a flash he understood. The Squirrels could no longer leap across to the blind, and so had no way of reaching that shelf.

"Why don't you come down and get your breakfast?" he called.

The Happy Jacks said nothing. There was nothing to say.

"Thought you were smart yesterday, didn't you?" jeered Sammy. "There are plenty of peanuts here and other goodies. Don't be bashful."

Still Happy Jack and Mrs. Happy said nothing.

"How about wings now?" jeered Sammy. "Don't you wish you had them? I told you this shelf was for we feathered people and not for you. These peanuts today are the best ever. Don't you wish you had some?"

Sammy was having a good time. No doubt about it he was having a good time. Some people are that way, they enjoy seeing others less fortunate than themselves. That is one form of selfishness, and while Sammy has his good points, as do most people, he is selfish and inclined to be greedy. Besides he was getting even for having been driven from that shelf the day before. And he knew that Happy Jack would do the same thing to him if he had the chance. So he continued to jeer at the Happy Jacks and even followed them half way back to the Green Forest as they sadly made their way home.

"I guess," sid Happy Jack, "that after all we will have to depend on getting some of the corn fed to the hens this winter. It looks as if Farmer Brown's Boy doesn't want us around. If only there were enough nuts and acorns I wouldn't mind."

Mrs. Happy said nothing, but she was as disappointed and worried as was Happy Jack.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

How to Play AND How to Win

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

WHEN TO FINESSE AND WHY.

One of the first things taught a beginner at contract is that with certain combinations of cards a finesse should be taken in order that the full trick-taking power of the hands may be utilized. But a finesse—that is, a maneuver for position which wins a trick if the position of the honor against which the finesse is taken is favorable—is by no means the best play in all cases. In fact, after learning all there is to learn about finessing and graduating into the expert class, bridge players spend much of their time, not in taking finesses but in seeking to avoid them.

The hand below is an interesting example of the principle of refusing to finesse.

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ K J 10 9 3 ♡ 3 ◇ 6 5 2 ♣ A Q J 9
♠ 6 4 2 ♡ J 2 ◇ K J 7 4 ♣ 8 5 4 3	North West East South	♠ A 8 7 ♡ K 10 9 7 ◇ 9 8 ♣ K 10 7 2
	♠ Q 5 ♡ A Q 8 6 5 4 ◇ A Q 10 3 ♣ 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Perhaps south should have bid three spades rather than three no-trump. However, a game cannot be made at spades while it actually was made at no trump.

West, lacking a good waiting lead, decided to open his fourth-best diamond. East played the eight, and south won the trick with the ten. Obviously, there was but one suit for south to seek to develop—namely, the spade suit. In order to be certain of four tricks in that suit it was only necessary to drive out the ace while there remained an entry in the dummy hand. The club suit in the dummy could not easily be developed, and if it were developed the dummy would then lack entries to bring in any established cards in it. The heart situation was equally impossible because of the fact that there was only one card of the suit in dummy.

After winning the first trick, south immediately began the establishment of the spade suit. East refused to win the first two rounds, not because there was any point so far as the suit itself was concerned in this course, but because he wanted to be sure that south was void of spades and thus to limit the number of entries in the dummy to one. Winning the third spade trick, east returned a diamond. South, of course, had an opportunity to finesse here but he knew that the finesse should not be taken as he could easily discern by correct card reading that east had no diamonds remaining and that the finesses must fail. The proper play, therefore, was to win with the ace. This south did, and now led the club. A finesse at this point was suicidal so south now came up with the ace and cashed the two remaining spades. Then he threw east in the lead with the return of the club queen. East returned a heart and south could now afford to take the finesse as west's hand obviously contained nothing but clubs and diamonds. When the finesse held south cashed his remaining heart trick and conceded the last 2 tricks to east.

Various other lines of play might have been adopted with equal success but the important point from south's standpoint was to refuse the finesse on the return of the diamond and also to refuse the club finesse.

Today's Question.

What is the correct opening bid, holding:

♠ K Q J 3 ♡ A 9 7 5 4 ◇ 7 5 ♣ 7 3

Answer: One spade, because the hand itself is a minimum and too weak for that reason to show the longer-five card heart suit. By bidding one spade first, if partner responds with one no trump, two clubs or two diamonds, two hearts can then be bid. If partner prefers spades he can show that preference by bidding two spades, and if he prefers hearts but is not strong enough to raise further, he can indicate that preference by passing.

METAL THIEF IS GIVEN SENTENCE

Joe Captain Is Sent To Reformatory For 1 to 2 Years.

Joe Captain, 23, who told District Judge Broady Thursday he has been stealing copper and brass around Lincoln for the last two years, was sentenced by the judge to serve from one to two years in the reformatory. Captain pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny in connection with the theft of 500 pounds of copper and brass belonging to the Burlington railroad during the month of November.

Captain said he has been in Lincoln for the last seven years, coming here from Johnstown, Penn. He said his parents live there, but he has not kept in touch with them.

Jason Maxwell, 19, who claims to have been born in Detroit, but to have hailed more recently from St. Louis, Denver and other points both east and west, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary in connection with a break-in at the Public Service Coal yard, 601 N street, on December 4. Sentence was deferred pending investigation. Maxwell blamed his crime on his being drunk saying he had met a stranger on O street who protested at drinking alone and pressed the liquor on him.

Jack Mooney, 28, arrested under the name of Jack Barton, was paroled for three years to Adult Probation Officer Jack Leonard. Judge Broady said his inquiry disclosed Mooney has a good record and had been in no other trouble than the burglary, to which he pleaded guilty on Monday. The charge was based on a break-in at the Standard Oil station, Tenth and M streets, on November 24.

MR. ROOSEVELT SEEKS PEACE WITHIN AAA

ference if Peek would go over to the national recovery administration to take over these codes, Wallace smiled and replied·

"You can't tell about that—you will have to speculate"

Eyeing Tugwell by his side, Wallace said "All of us have the same objectives—to get a fair share of income to the farmer. I think George and Rex see eye to eye on that"

"Different Methods."

Asked if Peek and Tugwell agreed on methods to obtain this objective, Wallace replied "Everyone has different methods"

Tugwell said he was not resigning

Public listing of the codes to be newly put under the NRA was being arranged

Transfer of codes hitherto in Peek's hands to the NRA was viewed today in some government circles as a victory for the "practical" wing of opinion within the administration

Hugh S Johnson of the NRA, questioned by newspapermen, said he had not known about the plan until 6 o'clock last night, when Secretary Wallace asked if he would be willing to take back the codes dealing with farm product manufacture and distribution which had been given to the farm unit months ago at the request of officials who wished to insure that the farmer obtain the maximum benefit from these industrial agreements.

Lack of Harmony.

Unlike NRA, which has put through a tremendous number of codes, the farm administration has not been able to get its batch completed, apparently due to lack of harmonious viewpoint among those at work on the problem

This has been ascribed to policies backed particularly by Assistant Secretary Tugwell of the agriculture department, a member of the original 'brain trust," which involved much stiffer government supervision than has been imposed by NRA

Johnson, while saying there had not been the great strife between the two organizations pictured in some published accounts, pointed out that it was preferable to have uniform policies in handling all industries He said Wallace agreed with him.

Among the points insisted on by farm officials which prevented approval of codes were Requirements that all members of code authorities be chosen with the approval of the administrator, while NRA lets industry do that by itself, naming only one to three government representatives who have veto power over the authority's act.

Want All Books Kept Open.

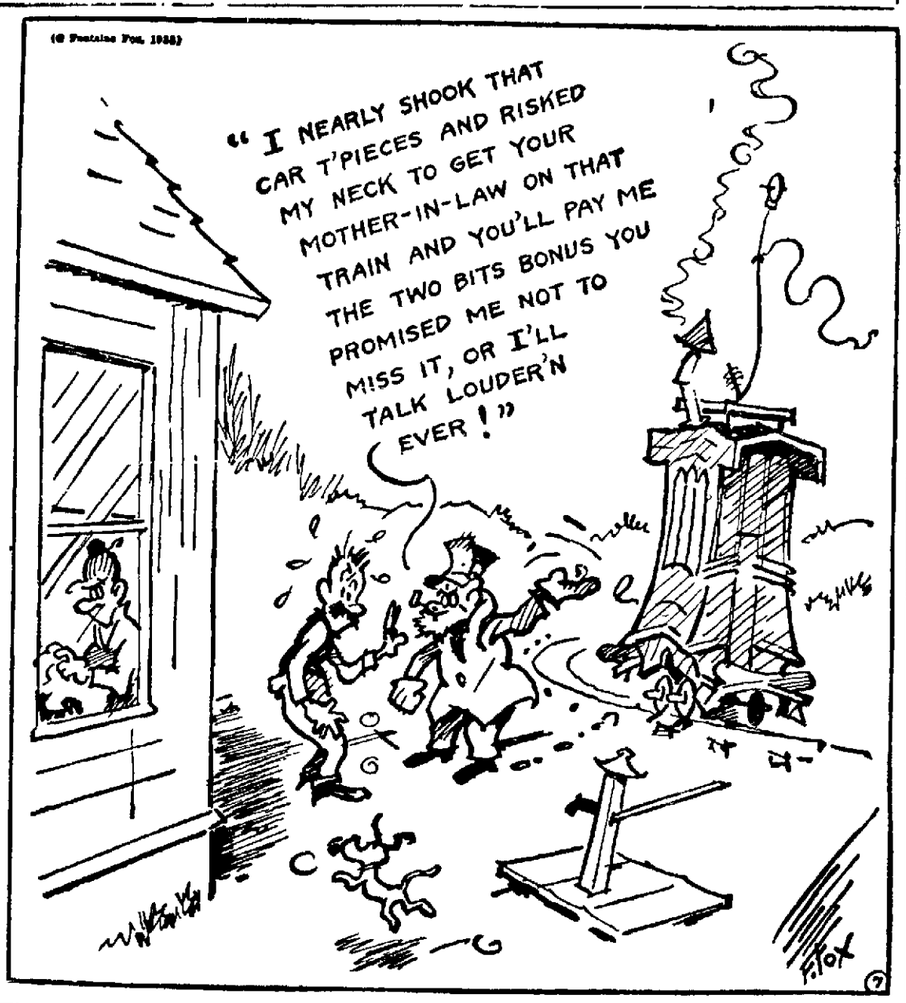

While NRA requires the submission of such figures as are necessary to carry ot purposes of the recovery law, the farm men wanted all books of all companies involved open at all times to government agents

Tugwell's attempt to have food codes carry provisions of his proposed pure food and drug law, which has not yet been put before congress NRA has taken the view that congressional action on such point should not be anticipated.

Johnson said he was not certain how the codes would now be handled by NRA, whatever new hearings on such important ones as food and grocery wholesale and retail trade would be necessary, or whether the records accumulated by the farm administration would cover the fair trade practices which NRA regards as the most important item of code regulaion.

He did not believe, however, that he would have to take over any of the farm administration code personnel or that any new division would have to be created within NRA.

WALLACE BACKS PURE FOOD AND DRUG ACT BILL

safe tolerances therefor is provided for.

"The operation of factories under federal permit is described where protection of the public health cannot otherwise be effected

More Severe Penalties.

"More effective methods for the control of false labeling and advertising of drug products are provided.

"More severe penalties, as well as injunctions in the case of repeated offenses, are prescribed.

"I think it is generally understood that this bill is intended primarily to protect consumers. At the same time it should operate in the interest of all honest manufacturers.

"Agriculture has special reasons for favoring it Farmers are interested as producers and users of food, as extensive users of package medicines, and as almost exclusive users of veterinary medicines and stock feeds Agriculture is interested in any measure that helps the consumer obtain food which is unadulterated and honestly represented."

"Chiselers" In Field.

Wallace said there had been "chiselers" in the advertising field and believed the advertising people themselves would like to have some standards set up to prevent fraudulent advertising

His experience as a publisher he said had shown that the broader minded and larger advertisers and publishers take the view that so much purchasing power centers around a given publication that if that is 'soaked up for things that are harmful it means that much less money to be spent for things worth while"

Walter G Campbell chief of the food and drug administration of the agriculture department who would administer the bill if it became law said it was intended to correct "lokers" and "deficiencies" in the 27-year-old existing law

"We have sought to preserve all worthy features of the present law" he said "and correct the abuses and provide for needs we have found in the 27 years' experience with that law" from Washington, the distribution of 27,775 jobs set apart for Nebraska must be completed by December 15 or the state will lose all short of that number. Of the state total, 1,740 positions are reserved for women. The allotment as to them will be considered at a conference of women representing various Nebraska organizations, to be held Friday afternoon at the Cornhusker hotel. Miss Lulu Wolford, assistant to the federal agent for Nebraska, will conduct the meeting.

State Employment Director George Hodge made the following announcement Thursday regarding emergency employment for women in connection with the civil works program

'On Friday afternoon, 1 30 at the Cornhusker hotel a conference of representative women from all parts of the state will be held The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the emergency needs of the unemployed women

'George Hodge, state director of national reemployment service will speaker on the aims and purposes of this service and its relation to the employment of women

"Mr Hodge announced that federal regulations provide that the unemployed women of the state register in their resident counties at established reemployment offices located in county seat towns

'Mr Hodge again emphasis the fact that the mere act of registering in reemployment offices is not a promise of work

'Under a recent ruling it is hoped that civil works projects will provide over 1 -700 jobs for unemployed women in Nebraska

'Reemployment managers will be instructed to give preference where jobs are available to unemployed on relief where qualified"

Dodge County Near Limit.

At its session Thursday forenoon the state board heard spokesmen for several Dodge county projects and approved one of them in full, the others cannot be taken care of as presented because there is only $327 left for that county.

The town of Snyder was given $1,375 for miscellaneous local work on streets and repairing school property Wednesday afternoon a project for similar employment at Dodge, amounting to $1,500, had been O K'd

Mayor J. F. Rohn of Fremont was on hand Friday morning with a request for $2,960 to cover labor costs in painting and general repairs to school buildings, and the local authorities expected to provide $1,650 more for buying materials.

At the same time, County Clerk C F Barz appeared to ask for $2,-904 to paint outside casements and trimmings on the Dodge county courthouse at Fremont and do some interior redecorating work

Chairman Smith of the works board said very little of this work, if any, could be authorized with only $327 to go on.

An original allotment of $510 made several days ago to the village of Ohiowa, in Fillmore county for local employment, was increased Friday morning to $1,500.

The following other projects have also been approved·

Red Willow county—Lebanon, cemetery improvement, $185

Hayes—Hayes Center street lighting and street work $1,415 county 1 mile north of Hamlt road work $1,375 county improvement 1611's mile of Hill, $70, county —Road work, Hayes Center to Maywood. $735

The country is divided into eight climatic and geographical regions for the corn contest.

LOUP PROJECTS REACH ACCORD ON WATER USE

Columbus under the accord suggested, and it would not interfere with Columbus plans as the water is returned to the stream. J. C Hoge of Grand Island vice president of the power company, attended the conferences and said he was not opposed to offer any objections to any of the requested appropriations

In answer to queries from Willis, Hoge agreed that the power company would depend upon proper administration of the water to assure delivery of its appropriated supply in case the Middle Loup project goes through later

Willis said the agreement also would not interfere with the senior right of the Columbus project over the North and Middle Loups nor bar its claim to damages if they wanted to condemn part of the Columbus appropriation later in order to assure them a proper supply for irrigation.

The agreement was based on the belief that the two irrigation projects would need only about 80,000 acre feet of water annually which is about five per cent of the usable flow past Genoa where the Columbus project would divert its water. Willis said the actual consumptive use would be only about half this so that there should be little interference with the Columbus needs

The Columbus district was represented at the conferences by Fred Albert engineer, C N McElfresh and August Wagner, attorneys; Phil Hockenberger, J E. Meyer, C C Sheldon Harold Kramer and Ed Lusienski

The North Loup project was represented by Bert Hardenbrook of Ord and others and the Middle Loup by H. H. Henningson of Omaha, engineer; C. A. Sorensen of Lincoln, attorney and Harry S. Kinsey of Arcadia, secretary.

Protest Jurisdiction In Power Rate Case

Jurisdiction of the railway commission is questioned in an answer filed Thursday with that body by the Southern Nebraska Power company to the complaint brought by Henry Pedersen of Guide Rock and others against rates charged by the utility The complainants claim that the power company raised its rates after it was forced by an act of the 1933 legislature to remove service charges The company's answer denies that its rates are excessive or that they yield an unrasonable return on the fair value of its property.

SEASONAL DROP IN AUTO PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—The seasonal let down in automobile production during November was reflected today in the figures compiled for that month by the National Automobile chamber of commerce whose membership embraces all important manufacturers except Ford

Output totaled 47 052 cars and trucks, a decrease of 53 per cent from October but a rise of 46 per cent over November, 1932, production for the first eleven months of 1933 was 1,451,363 units, a rise of 893 095 from the corresponding period of 1932.

Attorney General Calls Lynchings 'Intolerable'

WASHINGTON, Dec 7—(AP)—Attorney General Cummings said today the recent lynchings in the country were "a very distressing thing" for which there was "no possible excuse"

"They are injurious to the cause of law enforcement," he said "They are so reprehensible, so intolerable and so inexcusable that it is difficult for me to speak about them in a parliamentary fashion"

U. S. WILL DEAL LENIENTLY WITH 'DRY' VIOLATORS

But Habitual Criminal Type Will Be Prosecuted Vigorously.

WASHINGTON Dec 7—(AP)—Attorney General Cummings said today the justice department's general attitude toward prohibition law violators 'of previously good character' would be extremely lenient, but he promised vigorous prosecution of the habitual criminal type

He estimated that of 2 219 federal criminal cases pending, 500 were prohibition cases and said that 3 764 federal prohibition offenders were in jail out of a total prison population of 16,557

The prison population was described by Cummings as 6,809 below the figure for a year ago He attributed the decrease to a more liberal treatment of prohibition cases because repeal was in sight

Cummings estimated that within the next year there may be as many as 10,000 cases of violations of the liquor revenue laws

Two Classes.

"Pending liquor cases," Cummings said, "fall into two classes—those in which offenders are in jail awaiting trial and those in which they are out on bond

"I suppose those who serve actual time while awaiting trial will be dealt with more leniently than those who are free The general attitude toward first offenders, people previously of good character and not likely to offend again, will be one of extreme leniency Some may turn out to be legitimate cases for adjustment with the revenue department

"With regard to the racketeering groups and persistent offenders—those criminally minded, with previous records—each case will depend on the circumstances There will be no disposition to otherwise pursue decent citizens

"Essential justice is the question If we can't get a racketeer one way we will get him another."

Will Meet Soon.

A meeting probably will be called in a few days of the Nebraska corn-hog committee named yesterday at Washington

Brokaw is chairman of this group and other members are Herman Hanke Ithaca, a farmer and member of the farmers union and farm bureau, Henry Bock, David City farmer and legislator, John A Robertson, Joy, farmer and former legislator

To Nebraska or Illinois, Brokaw pointed out, will go the honor of being second to Iowa in the amount of corn-hog money received The two states usually divide second and third places on corn and hog production Nebraska's maximum benefits are approximately $40,000,000 but the amount actually received depends on the accuracy of crop reports and on the alacrity with which the farmers sign contracts

A month of preparation will be followed by the actual signing of the contracts.

Instead of calling district meetings to instruct the county agents and special agents, Brokaw plans now to call one state-wide meeting in Lincoln this month

Parish Surrenders On Fraud Charge Growing Out of Fallen Concern

CHICAGO, Dec 7—(AP)—Frank Parish a fugitive since last February surrendered to the United States marshal today on an indictment charging use of the mails fraudulently in the financing of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Co

His $35,000 000 pipe line company went into receivership in the spring of 1932 Several months later a government investigation and audit resulted in the indictment of the young financier and several associates in the direction of the company for use of the mails in a scheme to defraud investors in Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line stock

Then in December, 1932, Parish was indicted in New York on a grand larceny charge, which he denied

He elected to go into voluntary exile last February rather than face the mail fraud charges and his $5 -000 bond was forfeited

Parish had residences at Kansas City, Mo., and East Orange, N J Before he was 36 he had built a $16,000,000 fortune, organized the pipe line company to draw natural gas 1 200 miles from Texas to Illinois and bought himself the former presidential yacht Mayflower Then the collapse of Missouri-Kansas brought disaster

ARMY AND NAVY TO REMAIN DRY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Both the army and the navy are to continue dry despite prohibition repeal

Secretary Dern said today he had not considered making any change in regulations for army posts that would permit liquor

Under army regulations, the posts have prohibited the sale or possession of intoxicants for many years

Secretary Swanson said yesterday the "navy doesn't need whisky to make it fight"

Huskers Have Nine Games On 1934 Grid Slate

Half Dozen Contests On Nebraska U.'s Book At Memorial Stadium

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

A nine-game schedule, the toughest assignment ever to confront a University of Nebraska football team, will face the Cornhuskers next September when they square off for the 1934 pigskin campaign. The '34 slate, announced Thursday morning by Head Coach Dana X. Bible, includes just that many games and every one is with a state institution—the five other members of Big Six conference, two leaders in the Big Ten, the ranking eastern team and a representative of the Rocky Mountain sector.

Nebraska's 1934 Schedule.

Sept. 29—Wyoming at Lincoln.
Oct. 6—Minnesota at Minneapolis.
Oct. 13—Iowa at Lincoln.
Oct. 20—Oklahoma at Norman.
Oct. 27—Iowa State at Lincoln.
Nov. 3—No game will be scheduled.
Nov. 10—Pittsburgh at Lincoln.
Nov. 17—Kansas at Lawrence.
Nov. 24—Missouri at Lincoln.
Nov. 27—Kansas State at Lincoln.

Gophers Home-and-Home.

Additions to the Nebraska varsity slate for next season are the Minnesota Gophers, the Cornhuskers going to Minneapolis to open what it is expected will be a long series of home-and-home engagements with that strong Big Ten institution, and Wyoming, the team which is under the tutelage of Willard "Dutch" Witte, former Nebraska and Lincoln high athlete.

Teams appearing on the 1933 card and not coming back next season are University of Texas, which appeared at Memorial stadium last October under a one-year contract, and Oregon State, the opponent of last Thanksgiving day, which will be returned to the Scarlet slate for a home-and-home series in 1935 and 1936.

Six Home Contests.

Completion of the schedule assures Nebraska fans of the most attractive home bill they have in many seasons. Headlining the Memorial stadium card will be the strong Pitt Panthers, pride of the east and the only team to defeat Nebraska the past season, and Iowa, the team which gave the fans many a thrill as the Huskers won 7-6 on a windswept gridiron a few weeks ago.

In addition there will be Kansas State, runner-up team in the Big Six this fall; Iowa State, figured to return to the runing next season; Missouri, a traditional opponent, and Dutch Witte's Wyoming Cowboys.

There is only one open date on the Nebraska slate and that is the week before the Pitt clash and the Cornhusker coach intends to keep this week-end clear in order to be in top trim to meet the Panthers.

Missouri's Slate Complete.

COLUMBIA Mo., Dec. 7—(AP)—A rearrangement of the 1934 football schedule of the University of Missouri which moves up the game with Iowa State from Oct. 20 to Oct. 13 and shifts the Nebraska-Missouri contest from Oct. 13 to Nov. 24 was announced today by C. L. Brewer, athletic director.

The changes were made in order to permit Iowa to play Iowa State Oct. 20, Brewer said. The Nebraska-Iowa game will be played Oct. 13. The Missouri schedule:

Sept. 29—(Opponent not yet named) at Columbia.
Oct. 6—Colorado at Boulder, Colo.
Oct. 13—Iowa State at Columbia.
Oct. 27—Chicago at Chicago.
Nov. 3—Oklahoma at Norman.
Nov. 10—Kansas State at Manhattan.
Nov. 17—Washington at Columbia.
Nov. 24—Nebraska at Lincoln.
Nov. 29—Kansas at Columbia.

Rowdy Joe Clashes With Lehl Tonight

THURSDAY MAT CARD.

Main event—Rowdy Joe Cox, Cleveland, O., vs. Johnny Lehl, Raymond, Neb.; semi-windup, Red Demon, San Francisco, Cal., vs. Joe Dusek, Omaha; preliminary, Abe Kashey, New York, vs. Bud Levin, Omaha. All heavyweight matches.

Rowdy Joe Cox, efficient bone crusher from Cleveland, O., comes back to show his wares in and out of the ring against Johnny Lehl, Raymond, Neb., heavyweight in a finish match featuring Billy Hale's grapple at the Marigold auditorium Thursday night.

It will be two falls out of three and Cox is favored to come through although he probably will have to resort to his usual roughhouse tactics to get the nod.

The semi-windup brings the "Red Demon," a masked grappler from San Francisco, here for a tussle with Joe Dusek, younger of the four wrestling Dusek brothers from Omaha.

Bud Levin, claimant of the world's Jewish heavyweight championship, will go against Abe Kashey of New York in the 30-minute preliminary.

All the performers are heavyweights and the bouts are being staged under the auspices of the Nebraskan Athletic club with Billy Hale acting as promoter and matchmaker. The first preliminary will start promptly at 8:30 p. m.

Michigan Ags Edge Up to Santa Clara

EAST LANSING, Mich., Dec. 7—(INS)—Officials, alumni and students of Michigan State college appeared today unanimously in favor of the proposed football game with Santa Clara university. If satisfactory arrangements can be made, it is certain the game will have strong approval here.

"For several years we have been trying to arrange a game with a coast team, but we haven't been successful," said Ralph H. Young, director of athletics. "I would heartily welcome a game with Santa Clara, provided we receive an invitation and both schools can agree on the date."

Coach Charles Bachman was similarly enthusiastic.

"I would certainly like to get a chance at a west coast team," he said. "I've heard nothing about a proposed game at Santa Clara, but there's nothing I'd like better."

Last Night's Fights.

At Glen Falls, N. Y.—Johnnie Kasper, 151½, Burlington, Vt., decisioned Frankie Petrolle, 156½, Schenectady, eight rounds.

At Chicago—Freddie Miller, 126½, Cincinnati, decisioned Paul Dazzo, 131, Chicago. Laddie Tonelli, 146, Marseilles, Ill., knocked out Mickey O'Shea, 151½, Chicago.

THE mystery lurking in the selection of Columbia, no better than a second-rater on its football record for the 1933 campaign, to oppose Stanford, pick of the far west, in the Rose Bowl extravaganza, continues to confuse most followers of the pigskin pastime.

Now comes a Nebraska educator, one not in any way connected with the state university, with a plausible theory. He points out the peculiar educational relationship which has bound Stanford and Columbia together for more than a short span of years.

Columbia, as is well known, is a post-graduate school of world-wide renown. No university anywhere has a higher ranking academically, especially none in the Atlantic region. Quite as much can be said of the academic rating accorded Stanford U. on the Pacific coast.

The Nebraska educator mentioned refers to the fact that for some time past it has been the practice of Columbia and Stanford faculty men to exchange chairs, the Stanford man going east to serve Columbia and the eastern professor going west to teach at Stanford.

THIS somewhat unusual arrangement quite naturally has built enduring personal friendships within the faculties of the two schools, making it inevitable, even in athletic affairs, that Stanford and Columbia would be pulling together, each tugging for the other.

The theory in question possibly may account for Stanford's preference for its eastern affiliate, although if that actually factored in the west team's choice it defeated the main purpose of the Rose Bowl project, because in ordinary years the award has had a background of merit—the eastern team which most deserved to be honored was the one which drew the prize.

Other developments, having their inception only a day or so after the Columbia team played its last game, Nov. 25 with Syracuse, tend to confirm the belief that Stanford had its eye on its eastern friend and at that time began to build its fences and set up the pins to invite Columbia regardless of the outcome of games involving other available, also desirable, teams.

MY OWN suspicions were aroused when one of the press associations, whose sponsor and chief owner is a California publisher of wide repute, began to flood the wires with stories laudatory of that "brilliant, colorful, sparkling" Columbia team.

After two or three days of preliminary ballyhoo, the press association in question came to the front boldly with the suggestion that Columbia was in every way worthy of Rose Bowl selection. It happens that The Star is a subscriber to the service of that association.

Sensing that a plot was being hatched to exclude the Cornhuskers from the consideration they deserved in event the Bible team turned back Oregon State on Thanksgiving day, I wired New York headquarters protesting against the use of the wires in spreading Columbia propaganda.

The protest evidently brought results in the way of a stop order to the drum-beaters on behalf of Columbia, but by that time the foundation for the choice of the Lions had been laid—the job was complete; the die was cast.

NOW that it is all over and Columbia has been nominated to oppose Stanford, the news has leaked that the invitation was in the eastern school's hands as long ago as last Saturday, even before the outcome of the Army-Notre Dame and Duke-Georgia Tech games, the results of which, according to the view of a deluded public, were expected to factor in the final choice.

What Army might do to Notre Dame or Duke to Tech mattered not. Nor was the feat of the Cornhuskers in thrashing Oregon State 22-0 on Thanksgiving day—in my opinion one of the outstanding performances of the football year—given even scant consideration by the powers that be at Stanford U.

The deck had been stacked and the cards dealt several days in advance of Thanksgiving day and the Cornhuskers might have massacred the Oregonians without qualifying for as much as a gesture in the direction of the invitation to display their prowess in the Pasadena bowl.

ALTHOUGH the Rose Bowl plum is in Columbia's possession, much work remains to be done. In other words, the California public which actually wanted Nebraska and said as much in plain terms in the Los Angeles prints, still is unconvinced that the Lions are worthy of their honors.

To that end, the press wires again are being flooded with fanciful tales and glowing yarns, under New York date lines, in praise of that "wonder team from Columbia." This form of ballyhoo, one may rest assured, will continue until New Year's day. Will it work? Will the Southern California public bite? We shall see just what we see!

Meantime, the undergraduate body at Columbia, from which Coach Little picks his team, scarcely is in Stanford's class from the standpoint of numbers. The male undergrads at the New York school number no more than 1,200, while Stanford's quota easily is twice that figure.

It is admitted at Columbia that Coach Little is lacking dependable reserves, while Coach Thornhill at Stanford has replacements in abundance. To my way of thinking, Coach Little is being put on the spot. Unless his Lions make a respectable showing at Pasadena, of which I have grave doubts, he may rue the day that Stanford decked his brow with a pewter crown and, by that token, nominated him as the victim of the New Year's day sacrificial ceremony.

Feast to Huskers at Uni. Club Tonight

The 1933 championship football team at the University of Nebraska will be honored at a banquet this evening tendered by the University club of Lincoln. More than 200 are expected to attend the dinner, which is scheduled for 6:15 and is under the direction of a committee headed by Art Dobson.

President Al DuTeau of the club will welcome the team and Chairman Dobson will introduce Frank Birch, prominent middle-western football official, as the principal speaker.

Old-time Nebraska players will be honor guests and will be introduced by Alan Tukey, graduate manager of the 1900 team. Members of the 1933 varsity will be presented with University club medals and the program will close with movies of the season's Cornhusker games.

NEBRASKA FROSH IN FINAL CLASH

Yellow Gridmen Scored Two Touchdowns To Win From Blues.

Football moleskins at Memorial stadium were packed away Thursday awaiting spring practice, which will find the Cornhuskers prepping for their difficult 1934 schedule. The last football of the 1933 season was staged Wednesday afternoon, when a thousand shivvering fans saw two freshman elevens meet in a warmly contested battle.

The "Yellow" team, featuring a rugged lineup, rushed across two touchdowns in the last five minutes of play to beat a light but scrappier "Blue" team, 13-0. Lloyd Cardwell was the big moose of the Yellows, although Francis and Howel did the scoring. Francis punched across the first touchdown and Howell ran 20 yards for the second.

In the "Yellow" line, Jack Ellis at tackle and Lester McDonald at end turned in good performances, while the work of Al Hopp and Marion DeJarnett stood out for the "Blues."

Lincoln Hi Cagers In Class Tourney

With the first game more than three weeks hence, Coach Stuart Baller is sending his Red and Black basketball aspirants through the annual interclass cage tournament at Lincoln high, hoping to discover potential first-stringers in the assortment of candidates. Following the termination of the tourney, intensive practice sessions will be inaugurated starting next week at Irving junior high, the scene of the Red and Black home games.

Four lettermen will report for the initial workout of the season Monday, including Bob Parson, sole regular from last year's quintet which advanced to the quarter-finals of the state tournament, Paul Amen, John Sanders and Marvin Plock. Eight of the remaining 12 athletes battling for first-string berths were members of the Capital City gridiron eleven.

The schedule embraces 17 games, nine being slated for the home court. Hebron will be host to the Red and Black in the formal opening of the current hoop campaign Dec 29. Schedule:

Dec. 29—Hebron, there.
Jan. 5—York, here.
Jan. 12—Omaha Central, there.
Jan. 13—Abraham Lincoln, there.
Jan. 20—Jackson, here.
Jan. 23—Geneva, there.
Jan. 27—St Joseph Benton, here.
Feb. 2—Omaha Tech here.
Feb. 3—Hastings, here.
Feb. 9—St Joseph Central, here.
Feb. 10—Crete, here.
Feb. 16—Omaha Tech, there.
Feb. 17—Omaha Central, here.
Feb. 23—Abraham Lincoln, here.
Feb. 24—Grand Island, there.
Feb 27—Beatrice, there.
Mar. 3—Jackson, there.

Seniors Win Tourney.

The senior team won the interclass basketball tourney by defeating the junior first team, 43-17. Dick Bradley led the scoring with 26 points. Eight teams participated in the cagefest.

SPOTLIGHT.

Cross country runners at the University of California are no longer to be unknowns. A trick course, every yard of which can be seen by spectators in the stands, is being built for this fall's meets.

PAIR OF HUSKERS IN CHARITY GAME

Sauer and O'Brien Named As Members of West Grid Team.

George Sauer, All-American fullback, and Gail O'Brien, one of the country's leading collegiate tackles, will be Nebraska representatives in the East-West Shrine charity game to be played at San Francisco during the Christmas holidays.

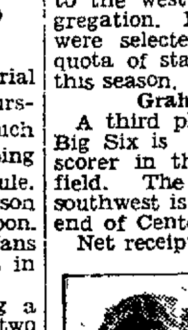

Head Coach Dana X. Bible received notification Thursday of the selection of Sauer and O'Brien by Coaches Percy Locey, Denver U, and Orin Hollingbery, Washington, who are directing the west team this year. Bible, who nominates from the Missouri Valley state and southwest suggested 20 to 30 players to the west aggregation. From this group four were selected, there being a large quota of stars on the Pacific coast this season.

GEORGE SAUER

Graham Also Chosen.

A third player selected from the Big Six is Ralph Graham, high scorer in the Kansas State backfield. The lone player from the southwest is Paul Geisler, the great end of Centenary.

Net receipts from the coast classic go to a San Francisco hospital for crippled children. Nearly $350,000 has been turned over to the hospital since the game was started in 1925.

GAIL O'BRIEN

At present the West gridders lead in the series, having won five of eight games. Two of these wins were achieved during the three years Bible was a coach of the west team. The Nebraska mentor is on a two-year leave of absence, due to his official duties with the American Football Coaches' association.

Pacific coast players selected for the West team include:

Ends—Smith, Washington; Canrinus, St. Mary's; Tod, Olympic club.

Tackles—Field, Oregon State; Jorgensen, St. Mary's; Schwammel, Oregon State.

Guard—Barton, Denver.

Center—Hughes, Oregon.

Quarterback — Sarboe, Washington State.

Halfbacks—Bowman, Oregon State and Norby, Idaho.

Fullback—Mikulak, Oregon.

Tackles—Stilley, Alliance; Helzer, Scottsbluff; Ringsby, Gering; Dow, Lyman.

Guards—Green, Alliance; Schwartz, Bayard; Stanley, Mitchell; Steevers, Bridgeport.

Centers—Moore, Alliance; Raser, Gering; Johnson, Minatare.

Backs—McNish, Sidney; Berry, Morrill; Hickman, Kimball; Reynolds, Lyman; Crandall, Scottsbluff; Williamson, Alliance; Seeger, Gering; Mowry, Minatare.

FEWER DEATHS IN GRID SPORT

No Varsity Man At Any College On List of Fatalities.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—A record of progress was marked up today in the efforts to check the deaths caused by football as a survey made by the Associated Press revealed only 6 deaths directly attributable to the game during the 1933 season.

Last year a similar survey showed 38 football deaths and in 1931 there were fifty.

Ten more deaths may be partly charged against the game, but are considered doubtful. In these cases, doctors said football injuries may have been contributing factors.

High schools again showed the greatest number of fatalities, 16, and "sandlot" games were next with 13 deaths. Not one college varsity player died as the result of football injuries and only two college freshmen are listed as having died of injuries that could be traced to supervised games or practice.

The 36 deaths including the 10 "doubtful" fatalities, are classified as follows: College, 5, high school, 16, sandlot, 13; semi-pro and athletic clubs, 2.

America Not Likely Adopt British Code

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Although the revised amateur code adopted by the ruling body of British golf, the Royal and Ancient Golf club of St. Andrews, is even stricter than the one now in effect in America, there is little possibility that the United States Golf association will make any changes in its present rulings when it meets here in January.

John G. Jackson, vice-president of the U. S. G. A., said that the executive committee would consider the British code, adopted a few days ago and forwarded here for information, when it meets before the annual convention, but that he knew of no agitation to mak the American rules conform.

LOSING COACHES FACE DISMISSAL

Numerous Grid Tutors Under Fire Along the Pigskin Front.

NEW YORK Dec. 7—(AP)—Coaching heads already have begun to drop into the basket, in keeping with the traditional college custom of demanding a reckoning at the close of a disastrous campaign or a periodic house-cleaning on general principles.

The mortality rate for 1933 apparently will be as high as ever, even though the demands for high-pressure production are less conspicuous than they were when put under the Carnegie Foundation's microscope a few years ago. Upwards of a dozen head coaches so far have become involved in shake-ups or prospective changes at larger colleges or universities. The list may be doubled before the head-hunting season closes.

Matty Bell Walks Plank.

Head coaches at Texas A. & M. and Lehigh already have been replaced. Others have resigned at Dartmouth, Texas, Kentucky, Boston university and South Dakota State, more or less under fire.

Speculation, meanwhile, has been rife over possible changes at North Carolina, Auburn and Rice in the South; Yale and New York university in the east; Notre Dame, Indiana, Purdue, Missouri and Wisconsin in the middle-west.

Chief interest centered nearly all season in the possible shake-up at Notre Dame. Support for Hunk Anderson who succeeded Knute Rockne, has been rallied since Notre Dame's exciting last-game victory over the Army, but the feeling persists that a change is likely. The name of Noble Kizer of Purdue has been most often linked with the job, despite denials.

Agitation At Yale.

Yale shifted coaches a year ago, with Reggie Root replacing Dr. Marvin Stevens as head coach, but Eli alumni have been disappointed by the results, including defeats at the hands of Harvard and Princeton. Agitation has developed for a shake-up along the lines of Princeton's policy in going outside its graduate body to engage Fritz Crisler as head coach.

Th efefect of late season victories has served to fortify some coaches who were distinctly under the guns. Thus Harvard's triumph over Yale helped subdue the criticism of Eddie Casey, while Cornell's successive victories over Dartmouth and Pennsylvania seem to have quieted alumni seeking the scalp of Gil Dobie.

In brief, here are some of the other coaching situations.

Captain McEwan In Line.

Kentucky—Harry Gamage resigned. Latest indicated candidates include John J. McEwan, former Army star, who resigned last year as Holy Cross coach; Chet Wynne of Auburn, and Elmer Layden of Duquesne.

Dartmouth—Jackson Cannell resigned, after outbreak of undergraduate criticism, although contract has one more year to run. No action on possible successor.

Texas A. & M.—Madison Bell succeeded by Homer Norton, former Centenary college coach.

Texas—Clyde Littlefield resigned, to devote time to track coaching, and half a dozen names considered for successor.

Indiana—E. C. (Billy) Hayes may take over athletic directorship and seek own successor as head football coach.

Lehigh—Austin Tate succeeded by Glen Harmeson, former Purdue star and assistant to Noble Kizer for last two years at that institution.

South Dakota State—T. C. Kasper resigned as head coach and athletic director; succeeded in latter position by R. H. Threlfall, formerly of Purdue.

North Carolina—Charles (Chuck) Collins reported on way out, but no definite developments.

Bill Spaulding Under Fire.

University of California at Los Angeles—Rumors that Bill Spaulding may be replaced so far denied.

Wisconsin—Dr. C. W. Spears apparently slated to retain job, despite earlier reports of dissatisfaction.

Missouri—Frank Carideo, former all-American quarterback at Notre Dame, under fire after disastrous season, but apparently has faculty support.

Rice Institute—Jimmy Kitts mentioned as possible successor to Jack Meagher as head coach.

New York university—Undergraduate discussion and criticism of "de-emphasis" under present regime, with Howard Cann as head coach, but no indication of any change in policy or coaching staff.

Boston university—John M. Harmon, center of disputes with team over "player control" system and over using a player said to be injured, relieved as head coach. Remains as athletic director and will help pick own successor.

Gridders Threaten Hang Sports Scribes

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7—(INS)—Threats to hang sports writers of two Los Angeles newspapers were made by "a flock of big husky Whittier college football players," unless a retraction was printed of a news story that Coach Newman was to leave Whittier, it was revealed today by one of the sports editors.

"We got enough guys to hang you," the editor said he was told and commented:

"The Whittier delegation showed more willingness to fight reporters than they displayed all season with rival football teams, which may account for the fact that they were defeated four times and tied twice this season."

Dawson to Speak At Omaha Alumni Feast

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 7—Fred T. Dawson, head football coach at Virginia and former Cornhusker mentor, will be the principal speaker here when Omaha alumni of the University of Nebraska honors the 1933 Cornhusker football team. The banquet is Tuesday, Dec. 19. James Rodman, former state senator, will be the toastmaster.

ELITE OF LINKS BID FOR GLORY

Nation's Best Pros Lined Up to Compete For Rich Prize.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 7—(AP)—Entries for the "ten grand" Biltmore open—richest purse of the year—reached a record high today as 165 of the nation's greatest golfers were paired up in threesomes for a crack at the title, held by Denny Shute, and $2,500 first money.

Never before has the field reached such proportions or broadened to include such a cross-section of players as have registered for the classic, which gets under way with an 18-hole qualifying round Friday and Saturday, and swings down the final 36-hole stretch Sunday.

Pitted against Shute, who also holds the British open championship, is the debonair Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., and the lanky Horton Smith, who learned his golf at Joplin, Mo.

Goodman and Sarazen.

Another threesome of top-notch champions who will start off the opening round together includes Johnny Goodman, American open titleholder; Gene Sarazen, P. G. A. champion and former American-British open champion, and Joe Kirkwood, Canadian open titleholder.

Ed Dudley, Willie MacFarlane and Billie Burke are another formidable triumvirate, while Phil Perkins, Willie Klein and Al Houghton, and Johnny Farrell, Harry Cooper and Jimmie Hines constitute two others.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn is paired with Walter Kozak and Johnny Revolta, Menominee, Mich., giant-killer who won the Miami open last year, and Tommy Armour, Frank Walsh and Craig Wood are matched in another threesome.

Only one of the golfing great has failed to make his appearance—Walter Hagen—and he is expected to file his entry Friday morning.

Huskers Name Their Toughest Opponents

Before forgetting the 1933 football season, the Nebraska Cornhuskers, champons of the Big Six, selected an "all-opponent" honor roll from the ranks of teams they opposed.

Three were given unanimous choices. They are Skladany, Pittsburgh, end; Franklin, Oregon State, halfback, and Walton, Pittsburgh tackle. George Sauer, Nebraska's all-American fullback, rated Franklin as the best ball-carrier he played against during his three years as a Husker ace.

The All-Opponent Roll.

Ends — Skladany, Pittsburgh; O'Neill, Kansas; Harris, Oklahoma.

Tackles — Walton, Pittsburgh; Schwammel, Oregon State; Gentry, Oklahoma.

Guards—Schammel, Iowa; Onder, Pittsburgh; Bashara, Oklahoma.

Center—Moore Iowa.

Backs—Franklin, Oregon State; Weinstock, Pittsburgh; Crayne, Iowa; Graham, Kansas State; O'Dell, Pittsburgh; Laws, Iowa.

Campus Editor Calls On Coach Step Down

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7—(AP)—Declaring the "usefulness" of Sam Willaman as head football coach at Ohio State university "is at an end," the Ohio State Lantern, campus daily, in an editorial urges for his dismissal.

"Sam Willaman, we contend," the editorial said, "has proved himself lacking the first requisite of a coach; he cannot handle players. The season has been marked by dissension on the team, resignations from the squad, petty jealousies between players and by a general want of respect for the coach.

"A big league coach would have a knowledge of fundamental football. We believe Sam Willaman has it. However, we maintain he lacks a certain type of leadership and diplomacy that are necessary and peculiar to the position he holds.

"We thought that Willaman would realize before this that he should resign—which would have been the best solution to a difficult problem. Since he hasn't taken that step, there is the other alternative—dismissal."

Willaman said he had no comment.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(AP) — The world's pocket billiard tournament was in a state of turmoil today following the sensational defeat of the defending champion, Ralph Greenleaf of New York 125 to 85 in 25 innings, by George Kelly of Philadelphia.

The stunning upset occurred last night and knocked Greenleaf, 12 times champion, out of a five-way tie for first place and gave the winner his first victory in the tournament. It was the champion's first defeat in three years and until last night it hadn't seemed possible to the other contestants that he could lose.

However, Greenleaf had his moment of glory when in the fifteenth inning he had a run of 51 to topple Kelly's best effort a few innings later by amassing a high run of 20.

Four Undefeated.

As matters stood today, Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland, Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia, James Caras of Wilmington, Del., and Frank Taberski of Schenectady, N. Y., were left alone in the undefeated class with victory apiece.

Ponzi meets Pasquale Natalie of Chicago and Rudolph plays Charles Seaback of Astoria, N. Y. this afternoon, while tonight Caras, last year's runner-up tangles with Bennie Allen of Kansas City.

Nebraska U. Looms As Possible Member of Western Conference

BY PAUL MICKELSON.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(AP)—The door may be opened for either Notre Dame, Nebraska, Michigan State or Marquette to join the Western Athletic conference, better known as the Big Ten, before another football season rolls around. Proposed plans to merge the University of Chicago and Northwestern university, a move that would automatically reduce the conference's membership to nine and leave a spot open, were reported progressing so rapidly today by its proponents that the consolidation may be effected by the time the 1934 fall term opens.

Chicago U. Out of Picture.

Under the merger plan, Northwestern would become strictly an undergraduate school, and Chicago would revert to a post-graduate university. Graduates aren't allowed to compete in college football in the Big Ten, so the football players would all go to Northwestern.

Of the four probable candidates for membership in the Big Ten, Michigan State was regarded as the most probable choice of the conference leaders. Nebraska was considered too far removed from conference territory, as well as belonging to the Big Six, an enterprising group. The old feud between Fielding H. Yost of Michigan and the late Knute K. Rockne probably would block Notre Dame's request for admission, whereas Marquette's football team last season was far below Big Ten standard.

Friendly To Nebraska.

Michigan State for years has been one of the strong teams of American football, holding Michigan's championship teams of 1930 and 1931 to scoreless ties. During the 1933 campaign, Michigan State piled up one of the best records in the country, although Michigan beat its old rival, 20 to 6.

On the other hand, several conference members undoubtedly would like to have Nebraska as a rival for the Big Ten championship. Iowa and Minnesota already are great rivals of the Cornhuskers, who have dominated the Big Six almost without interruption since the conference was formed and demonstrated their ability to take care of themselves in any college football league.

If the Northwestern-Chicago merger is effected by next fall, prospects are that the Big Ten will proceed as the "Big Nine" at least until 1935, as all football schedules for 1934 have been drafted.

Schulte to Address Geneva Hi Banquet

GENEVA, Neb., Dec. 7—Coach Henry F. Schulte of the University of Nebraska will be the principal speaker at the annual Geneva high football banquet to be held here Thursday, Dec. 14. The Community club is sponsoring the banquet and Ben Koehler is handling arrangements.

BAER TO BID FOR WHIRL AT TITLE

Maxie Goes East All Set To Sign for Battle With Carnera.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 7—(INS)—Max Baer, heavyweight boxing title contender, was enroute to New York today with his manager, Ancil Hoffman, to talk over terms with Madison Square Garden officials for a championship bout next June with Primo Carnera.

Before boarding a train, Baer and Hoffman indicated that the trip was for the sole purpose of signing articles for a title bout with the giant Italian, who embarked yesterday from his native country for America.

One thing may hold up immediate signing of the papers, and that is the close affiliation of Baer and Jack Dempsey, the old "Manassa Mauler," now a promoter.

Dempsey already has received overtures from the Garden and it appears likely the Garden and Dempsey jointly will promote the title bout.

Carnera Willing to Sign.

Hoffman recently received assurances from Colonel Kilpatrick, president of the Garden, that Carnera will sign for the match.

Dempsey plans to head east shortly before the Christmas holidays. He has arranged to meet Hoffman in New York on Jan. 2.

Court litigation over Baer's managerial difficulties have held him on the Pacific coast, but yesterday the trial in Sacramento superior court was put over until Feb. 7. J. Hamilton Lorimer, Baer's first manager, is seeking a share of the heavyweight's earnings during the past few years.

Ex-Wife Not Interested.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 7—(INS)—"Whatever I do, I am not going back to Max Baer—that's final.

With these words, Dorothy Dunbar, movie actress and divorced wife of the fighter-actor-playboy, today put at rest rumors of a reconciliation in the Baer menage.

"Max belongs to one world, and I belong to another," said the pretty screen player firmly.

"I have only the kindest feelings for him, but we have come to the parting of the ways."

Even the prospect of running into Max in Hollywood, should both push on with their film careers, does not dismay Miss Dunbar. And as for speculations as to whether Max's fistic and film fortunes will fare beter or worse without her guidance—Miss Dunbar has never even pondered that subject.

"I've got so many things to think about now, that I haven't any time for memories of Max," she explained.

Foremost in her mind is her film career. And, in addition, there is astrology—which she has been studying for more than a year—polo, and writing.

Jilted Maiden Weds.

RENO, Nev., Dec. 7—(INS)—Olive Beck, pretty 20-year-old Livermore, Cal., girl who recently settled a $250,000 breach of promise suit against Max Baer, boxer-actor, out of court, will be married here today to Charles Walsh.

Announcement of the impending marriage was made in California by Mrs. Orlene Beck, mother of the bride-to-be.

CHICAGO CUBS BUY COAST LOOP STAR

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs today outbid four other major league clubs in purchasing Dick Ward, 22-year-old pitching star, from the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league for cash and three players.

The players exchanged for Ward are Frank Demaree and James Mosolf, outfielders, and Ray Henshaw, a left-handed pitcher who came to the Cubs from the University of Chicago. Demaree and Mosolf were sold outright, while Henshaw was released on option.

Ward, a strapping 185-pounder, nearly six feet tall, led the Pacific Coast league last season in games won and lost, winning 25 and losing nine. He has been playing professional baseball only two years, starting with Wichita, Kas., a year ago. His home is Everett, Wash.

Lyman Man Head of North Valley Loop

BRIDGEPORT, Nb., Dec 7—W. H Bokenbroger of Lyman was elected president of the North Platte Valley High School Athletic league at a meeting held here. E. P. Bogle of Morrill was named vice-president and P. F. Robbins of Mitchell was chosen secretary.

Former Husker Athlete.

President Bokenkroger of the North Platte Valley league is a former University of Nebraska varsity end.

GIANT PITCHERS HAD REAL GOODS

Mound Superiority Made New Yorkers Supreme In National.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—The brilliant pitching that carried the New York Giants' "hitless" team to the 1933 world championship is emphasized more than ever in the official pitching averages of the National leavue.

Led by Carl Hubbell, the entire Giant staff of mound regulars appeared well up in the list, as based on the earned run averages.

Hubbell allowed an average of only 1.66 earned runs per nine-inning game while hurling 309 innings, the equivalent of more than 34 full contests. Not since 1923 had any National league hurler been under two in the earned run averages. Behind Hubbell, Hall Schumacher, the big youngster from Dolgeville, N. Y., was third with a 2.15 average; Fred Fitzsimmons was eleventh at 2.89 and Leroy (Bud) Parmalee was fifteenth at 3.18.

The Chicago Cubs were the leading threats to the Giants' supremacy, as Lon Warneke the 1932 leader, took second place with a 2.01 average; Guy Bush was fourth with 2.50, and Charley Root fifth with 2.60.

Tinning Leads in Percentage.

In the percentages of games won and lost, Hubbell, with 23 victories to 12 defeats for a .657 mark, was third. Lyle Tinning of Chicago led with a .684 average from 13 victories and six defeats and Ben Cantwell of Boston was second with 20 games won and 10 lost for .667.

Hubbell's 23 victories set the high mark for the year, as did his 309 innings pitched. He also led in shutouts, hurling 10, and established a league record when he ran up a string of 46 consecutive scoreless innings from July 13 to Aug. 1. The old mark was 44 straight, made by Ed Reulbach of Chicago in 1908.

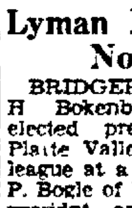

Dizzy Leads In Strikeouts.

Jerome (Dizzy) Dean of St. Louis shared the season's individual honors with the New York southpaw. He set a new "modern" record for strikeouts in a single game by whiffing 17 Chicago batsmen on July 30. The best previous mark since 1900 was 16, made by Christy Mathewson, Nap Rucker and Frank Hahn. "Dizzy" fanned 199 rivals in the course of 48 games, leading for the second straight year and tied with Warneke for the league lead by pitching 26 complete games.

MILFORD STARTS WITH BASKET WIN

MILFORD, Neb., Dec. 7—Milford high opened its basketball season with a victory over the veteran Dorchester quintet 22-21. Dorchester led 14-7 at the intermission. Abrams and Malone stood out for Dorchester, the former getting 14 points. Milford reserves, after a scoreless first half came back to win, 10-7.

Major Boy Neyland, Tennessee football coach and a government engineer, was schooled at Texas A. & M., West Point, and Massachusetts Tech.

Colorado-Wyoming Negotiations End

Governor Of Latter State Says Efforts To Reach Amicable Agreement Fruitless.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Negotiations between Wyoming and Colorado for a compact governing allocation of the water of the North Platte river have been terminated by Governor Miller the governor announced here Wednesday.

Under date of Dec 3 he announced he wrote Governor Johnson of Colorado that "It would seem in view f circumstances as they now exist, it is fruitless to go any further in these negotiations I regret this, as I had hoped that some amicable understanding could be arrived at, involving all three of the states of Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska."

In making his letter public today Governor Miller also made public the text of a report of a conference of the irrigation committee of the Casper chamber of commerce with State Engineer Burritt.

Gains Of 1 To More Than 3 Points Are Scattered Throughout Stock Market In Thursday Session

Closing Tone in Equities Is Firm

Specialties Lead Exchange In Quiet Quest For Higher Levels.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Rails and industrial specialties today led the stock market in a quiet quest for higher levels. Gains of 1 to more than 3 points were scattered throughout the list. While most of the so-called leaders improved moderately, they were not unusually active. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,700,000 shares.

Creeping stocks pointed toward higher levels today notwithstanding the absence of important news from either the political or economic sectors.

The dollar firmed in terms of pounds and French francs as the domestic gold rate was again unchanged, but currency fluctuations were rather narrow. Equity specialties were in moderate demand and gains of fractions to more than a point predominated in the early hours. "Quiet accumulation" was the phrase used by bullish commission houses. Grains, cotton and other commodities were mildly mixed. Bonds, including U. S. government securities, were somewhat irregular.

Advances of a point or more were recorded by shares of Allied Chemical, American Tobacco B, American Telephone, American Can, Du Pont, Corn Products, Western Union, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, Great Western Sugar, Vanadium, U. S. Steel preferred, South Porto Rico Sugar, Case, Celanese, American Rolling Mill, Electric Auto-Lite, Auburn and United Aircraft, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, General Electric and a number of others were unchanged to fractionally higher.

Although stock dealings were still almost entirely professional, brokerage firms reported some nibbling by outsiders and a pick-up in odd-lot business. With the inflationary stimulus lacking, many of those who bought shares as a hedge against currency expansion were said to be holding because of indications that trade and industry over the next several months will show substantial improvement.

That the president in his speech last night did not touch on the administration's monetary program probably was disappointing to some, but occasioned no surprise among those who have been watching closely the developments at Washington. Banking circles, while hoping for some "sound money" pronouncement in the near future, feel that the domestic and international situations are such that a definite stand on the money problem is not likely at the moment.

For the sixth successive day, the treasury maintained its gold price unchanged at $34 01 and the dollar again advanced in the foreign exchange market. Sterling at the opening was off 1¼ cents to $5.10½ while French francs slid down .05 cent to 6.10 cents.

Announcement of the government's new financing, eagerly awaited, disclosed an interest rate higher than had been expected in some quarters, and it was assumed that the 2¼ per cent 1-year certificates would meet a heavy oversubscription. Incidentally, the orthodox refunding procedure squelches reports current a while ago that the government might resort to inflationary methods for its mid-December operation.

The gold loss of the Bank of France for the week ended December 1 was 450,000,000 francs, substantially less than for the previous week. The bank's ratio was 79.24 per cent, a small increase.

Omaha Produce.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—Butterfat was about steady today at the recent decline on the local produce market, 15 and 16c at country stations, a decline of one cent from former prices. Corn Takes Lead In Grain Markets ⅝ to 1½ Rise at Chicago; Wheat ½ Decline To ⅜ Up.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 7—(AP)—Corn took the leadership in the grain markets today, and averaged higher in price, with persistent buying of small lots a feature.

Pronounced tendencies to hold rural marketing of corn back with the assistance of government loans attracted much attention. Practically no corn was offered today to arrive in Chicago. A little export business in corn was understood to have been effected at the seaboard.

Corn closed strong, ⅝ to 1½ cents above yesterday's finish, Dec. 47½, May 53½@53¼, wheat ½ to ⅜c up, Dec. 84½, May 87¼@87½; oats ⅝ to 1½c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

Grain prices developed firmness today after a wavering start. Commission houses became rather active buyers on setbacks in values. Opening at ¼ to ⅝ cents decline, wheat afterward rose to above yesoff, and subsequently rallied. terday's finish. Corn started ⅜ to ⅝ cent

Failure of wheat market upturns to hold well led subsequently to some increase of selling that carried prices lower than before, but with rallies again following. In various quarters, monetary conditions were construed as bearish, notably a downward trend of sterling. Attention was also called to the fact that President Roosevelt's address last night threw no fresh light on the administration's financial plans.

Helping to give an undertone to strength to corn and oats prices was the fact that a leading corn industry had re-entered the corn market after an absence of some time. Besides, extreme scarcity of rural offerings of corn affected the futures market to a noticeable extent. Advices at hand, indicated a widespread disposition of farmers to seal their corn in cribs and obtain government loans. Dealers inferred that the bulk of corn delivered at shipping points would go to the feeder trade instead of to terminals.

Provisions were responsive to upturns of hog values.

About mid-session, wheat was ½ to ⅝ cent under yesterday's finish, and corn was ¼ to ½ cent off.

Corn receipts in Chicago today totaled 86 cars, compared with a holiday last week and 79 cars a year ago.

GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, Dec 7—(AP)—Holding of corn on farms in accordance with the government's plan to loan 45 cents a bushel on corn in cribs has caused a big decrease in the flow of the grain to terminal markets. The receipts at Chicago for this time of year generally average more than 500 cars a day. Only 53 cars of corn were received yesterday

Traders differ as to whether the withholding of corn from the market will eventually have a bullish or bearish influence on prices. So far, the basis for cash grain has advanced compared with the December delivery. New No. 2 mixed and yellow grades are selling in the local market at a substantial premium over the future. The immediate effect of the plan says the Bartlett Frazier company, should be small receipts from first hands, suggesting higher prices at least temporarily

The company says the present visible supply of 62,000,000 bushels compares with a total primary movement during the last crop of only 148,000,000 bushels and is the largest ever held at this time of year. It furnishes a volume sufficient to provide for all of the usual industrial needs [illegible]

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—The market for U. S. government bonds was not greatly enlivened today by the announcement of details respecting the December 15 treasury financing, the retention of the $34.01 cent gold price and the general firmness on the dollar in relation to foreign currencies.

Dealings in the federals were rather small during the first half of the session with quotations showing narrow irregularity. Gains of 2-32s to 3-32s were about balanced in number of losses ranging from 1-32 to 5-32s of a point. Some of the Treasury issues were unchanged.

Financial quarters displayed keen interest in the treasury's program for meeting the December 15 maturities, and comment on the announcement suggested that the 2¼ per cent coupon was a trifle higher than expected.

Corporation issues were firm. Some of the secondary classifications edged into new high ground for the current recovery with rails leading the way. Issues gaining fractions to around a point included some loans of the Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Milwaukee and Illinois Central.

Utilities and industrials had a few slightly reactionary spots, although the more active features tended higher. There were moderate advances in Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, Detroit Edison 4½s, Lautaro Nitrate 6s, Goodyear 5s, United Drug 5s and Western Union 5s.

In the foreign section prices moved divergently under limited dealings. French issues lost 1 to 2 points; British loans were steady. Canadians were unchanged to slightly lower and South Americans steady.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Quiet trading was the rule on the curb today, but the list had a firm tone. Gains were moderate, with industrials and specialties still receiving the best support.

Utilities, however, were more disposed to participate in the improvement and most of the leaders in this division made at least fractional progress. American Gas & Electric more than made up its dividend, while Electric Bond & Share worked higher in a fast turnover.

General Tire & Rubber, whose preferred has gone back on a $6 annual dividend basis after a lapse since March, 1932, was up better than a point. The company announced that the preferred dividend appeared to have been earned in the fiscal year ended November 30. Humble Oil also rallied as reports of the company's intention of splitting the stock gained wider circulation.

Pan-American Airways, Swift & Co., Aluminum of America, Hiram Walker, Pioneer Gold, American Cynamid "B" and Distillers Corp.-Seagrams mived quietly forward. Aside from Humble, oil shares were relatively inactive. Singer Manufacturing reacted.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Dec 7—(AP)—SUGAR—Except for a little hesitation at the start sugar futures were generally low today under liquidation and hedge selling attributed to the less active demand in the spot market. January contracts sold off from 1 22 to 1 20 and May from 1 33 to 1 30 or 2 to 4 points net lower when covering checked the decline and caused partial recoveries.

Futures closed barely steady, 2 to 4 lower; sales 14,350 tons. December, 1 17; January, 1 2 (bid); March, 1 24@1 25; May, 1 30; July, 1 35; September, 1 40 bid.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS from Washington

Q. What is the average weight of an elephant at birth? Which is larger, the African or the Indian elephant?

A. The average weight at birth is between 150 and 175 pounds. African elephants weigh about 9,500 pounds and Indian elephants weigh 7,000 pounds.

Q. Who received the "best player" awards in motion pictures for 1932?

A. Helen Hayes and Frederic March received the awards at the annual banquet of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, in Hollywood, November 18, 1932, the former for her acting in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet" and the latter for his performance in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Q. Has the Espionage act of June 15, 1917 ever been repealed?

A. Not entirely. Some provisions of the act, especially relating to war time emergencies have been repealed but some parts of the act are still in force.

FINLAND TO PAY FULL WAR DEBT

Only Nation Which Has Met All Its Obligations to America.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Finland will keep up its record as a payed-in-full and turn over to the United States $229,623 on December 15, the full amount due on its war debt obligations.

Finland stands alone in this respect. It is the only country which has met all its obligations up to date.

Twelve countries would pay the United States a total of $153,024,327 on December 15 should all make full installment payments, but several already have given notice of making "token" payments.

Great Britain offered $7,500,000 of its total installment due of $117,670,765. This offer was accepted by President Roosevelt. Italy offered $1,000,000 on a total payment due of $2,133,905.

Czechoslovakia made an offer of $150,000 as a token payment on $1,682,812.

France, Belgium and other countries which went into complete default of their payments due June 15 have not indicated any change in their war debt policy.

SOME AAA CODES ARE TO BE PUT UNDER JOHNSON

Roosevelt Moves to End Discord After Peek Threatens to Quit.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—A presidential move designated to end tension in the agriculture department kept Secretary Wallace busy today figuring out how many codes would be transferred from his jurisdiction to that of Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief.

The new step was announced by the White house shortly after George N. Peek, farm administrator working under Wallace, was reported to have said that he would resign unless "radical members of the 'brain trust,'" left the agricultural adjustment administration alone.

As a result of a visit Peek made to the White house and presidential telephone talks with Wallace and Johnson, it was decided that all codes under or before the AAA, except those involving persons who actually process farm commodities, would be transferred to the NRA.

Food Dealers Affected.

Biggest of these, Wallace said before making his survey, would be that covering wholesale and retail food dealers.

"The wholesale and retail dry good dealers are already under NRA,' 'Wallace said, "so this transfer is just natural, I haven't any idea how many other codes will be involved until I check."

He added, however, that although his department would be willing to give up the distilling, brewing rectifying, blending and other liquor codes "I'm afaird they stay with us."

"They dealt with the first processing of farm products," Wallace said.

What happens to the liquor importers' code, he continued, will be merely a "matter of convenience."

Peek Has Sought Charge.

For several months, agricultural department officials said, Peek had hoped for designation of his AAA as an agency separate from the department. Among the reasons advanced were that he disagreed on code procedure and activities with some other officials, including Dr. R. G. Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, Jerome Frank, farm administration counsel, and Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers counsel.

Peek, it was reported, preferred to obtain and enforce codes voluntarily agreed to by various industries while the Tugwell-Frank group favored no compromise. In some cases Wallace disapproved Peek's recommendations.

Wallace said he had heard of Peek's reported threat to resign, but that the farm administrator "hasn't said that to me."

Car Plunges Into River; 3 Drowned

VIOLA, Wis., Dec. 7—(AP)—Three persons were drowned in the Kickapoo river on the outskirts of Viola today when an automobile missed the bridge at the foot of a long hill and went into the river.

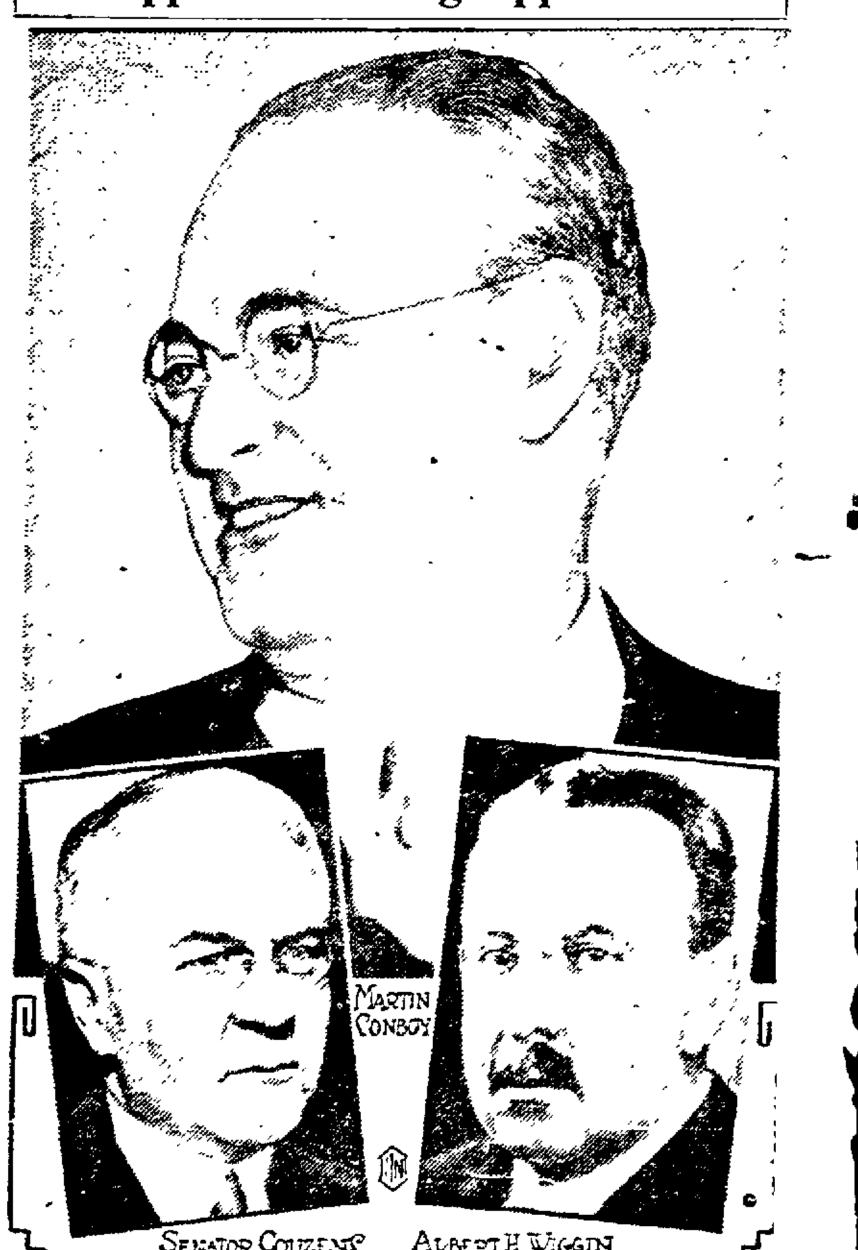

Charles Young 22, and Max Davidson, 24, of Soldiers Grove, and Miss Jessie Hall, 17, Viola, were the victims.

The party was returning from La Crosse after a visit with Mrs. Young, who is confined in a La Crosse hospital. The car was discovered in the water by a farmer. The car was pulled from the river and the bodies were recovered. Position of the victims in the car indicated signs of a struggle to escape

BENEFIT POSTPONED.

The benefit bridge party for Father Flanagan's boys, scheduled for December 8, has been postponed until after Christmas.

Appointee Facing Opposition

The first open opposition to a Roosevelt appointee is predicted when the senate considers the confirmation of the appointment of Martin Conboy, recently named by the president as U S attorney for southern New York. Leader of the opposition movement is Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, strangely enough a friend of Conboy. The senator from Michigan bases his hostility to the appointment upon Conboy's record as counsel for Albert W. Wiggin, former head of the Chase National bank, N. Y., during the latter's appearance before the senate committee investigating Wall street stock practices. Conboy served as counsel to Roosevelt when, as governor of New York, he was conducting the sensational hearing that climaxed in the resignation of Mayor James J. Walker.

were collected as they went along. This was too late, however, to lay thm before the board that day, and they were to be among the first considered at a session Thursday.

According to the mayor, the papers had been pigeon-holed in the legal department, because Nebraska's PWA quota had been overdrawn fully 35 per cent. The quota was $22,000,000. The allowances already made amount to $29,647,968 of which $12,533,712 was for federal projects, and $17,114,256 for non-federal activities.

The mayor said, "I do not have words to express my appreciation of Senator Thompson's aid. As soon as I reached Washington he started out with me and was at my side every minute from then until the work was completed. He accompanied me from office to office, trudging over almost every foot of the great office building of the department of the interior, which covers a full city block." Thousands of people work in the department, and the PWA branch is "swarming like a bee hive," the mayor stated.

He also received much assistance from Paul Betters of Chicago, secretary of the mayors conference, who accompanied him to Washington.

Visited Water Works.

In addition to visiting the police department at Chicago, the mayor and Captain Shively spent the greater part of a day inspecting the water department, accompanying John R. Baylis to the water purification experimental station. Mr. Baylis has made a number of tests of the Ashland water to determine the needs here for manganese and iron removal. Chicago's problem, the mayor was told, is to increase the iron content.

Chicago has before the PWA a request for 50 million dollars for water betterments. Of this 16 million is to be spent for purification plants on the lake front, the water being pumped from six "cribs" far from shore.

The only thing for Lincoln to do is to build a removal and filtration plant at Ashland, Mr. Baylis told the mayor. Compared with the results, he said, the expense would be so small that there should be no hesitancy about going ahead with the work.

The mayor and Captain Shively gave particular attention to the traffic and ornamental lights in Chicago as well as in the cities and towns through which they passed.

Everywhere the traffic signals are at the side of the streets, and almost without exception the amber light is used. Bells accompanying the change of lights are obsolete, and have been abolished in a vast majority of places.

Metal poles are used exclusively for ornamental lights, and except on some streets, single lights are dominant, Chicago, however, has six to the block instead of four, as here.

The trip to Chicago by the mayor and Captain Shively was made in a police car. Except for the use of the car, there was not a cent of expense charged to the city, the mayor said. Shively was on vacation.

Captain Shively was expected to tell of his trip Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the committee for the prevention of accidents.

White, U. S. Envoy to Czechoslovakia, Quits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7— (AP) — Francis White's resignation as minister to Czechoslovakia was accepted today at the state department. He already is returning to this country. White is a native of Baltimore.

White was assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin-American affairs in the Hoover administration. His resignation is said to have been prompted by his lack of interest in European affairs.

There are several candidates for the post but President Roosevelt has not decided on the appointment.

When Love Scatters.

There's an old saying you all know, that love flies out the window when poverty comes through the door.

It's my impression, however, that riches send love scattering to the winds much quicker than lack of wealth does.

The divorce mills grind much faster in times of prosperity than they do in periods of struggle. When money flows in easily and rapidly, it is so very easy for the married couple to find distractions that draw them worlds apart from each other. The mole hills of disagreements loom forbidding as mountains of incompatibility when it seems to be possible to step out and buy romance and excitement more glittering.

Oh, it's easy to shirk the responsibilities of marriage when all life seems easy and effortless. It's easy to break old ties when the horns of plenty are pouring out alluring thrills on every side.

But the butcher and the baker and the candlestick maker who pay their own bills with money they have earned through their own toil know far better how to value and cherish their own possessions and haven't the time or inclination to risk the barter and exchange system.

As more people are learning to place a new valuation upon their dollars, so too are they placing a new estmiate upon their home ties. They aren't so ready to gamble with chance that another mate will be easier to live with than the present one. They're really too busy to think about it. They haven't money to squander on experiments Then, too, love has a way of thriving on mutual endeavors, even when these struggles are to actually keep the wolf from the door.

Improving Your Hours.

Two very interesting letters are published below, in answer to the appeal from "Mrs. R. H. C." for suggestions regarding the ambition which she and her husband have to devote their spare time improving their minds:

Many Lectures.

Dear Minerva: I have a few suggestions for "Mrs. R. H. C." If she is interested in any of the sciences, she might attend the meetings of Sigma Xi, which are open to the public. Lectures are given on a wide range of subjects philosophy, psychology, botany, geology, the physical sciences, etc. These meetings are usually announced in the press, or information can be obtained from Dr. Emma Anderson, the secretary. If "Mrs. R. H. C" is interested in astronomy, I would recommend the talks of Mr. Collins at the observatory on those evenings when it is open to the public. As to her interest in mathematics, I would say that that is a subject which can best be learned by digging it out of books. The field is so large, and yet so specialized, that one mathematician has difficulty in understanding another, if they are not working in the same field. She might be interested in the talks given at Pi Mu Epsilon, the university mathematics fraternity, which meets once a month A knowledge of mathematics through integral calculus is necessary to follow most of the talks. The meetings are open to anyone interested.
VERY TRULY YOURS.

Interests In Common.

Dear Minerva: I am writing in answer to the young married woman who wanted to know if there were others interested in learning Romance languages, etc. I want to study, and like this young woman, cannot afford the price I would have to pay at the university. I have a high school education, no more. The friends I have made since coming to Lincoln are not interested in this sort of thing. I spend six nights a week alone, as my husband works nights. I would love to study Spanish, French and short story writing, or anything to broaden my horizon. If you care to put this young woman in touch with me, I would love to receive a note from her. Possibly we might find a few ideas in common and make our lives mean a little more to us.

I have four children, am 28 years old and our home is very modest. I usually have the evening free from 7:45 or 8:15 on. I generally turn the radio low and read various things—history, biography, magazine or mystery stories. SUZIE.

Thank you both for your interesting suggestions. If "Mrs. R. H. C." will please send me her name and address, I will forward to her these signed letters.

Bryan On Unheralded Trip About State

Governor Bryan was out on another "fresh air jaunt" Thursday, according to his secretary, in explanation of his absence from the executive office. Just where he was going, the secretary did not say.

It was surmised that Mr. Bryan might be out this time surveying some of his farms and helping to pick out pigs to be marketed, or possibly arranging to have some of his corn sealed in the crib to obtain a government loan upon it.

Nebraska V. F. W. To Stage Member Drive

Week Of January 6 Set Aside For Campaign By Davis In Address Here.

The week beginning January 6 was designated as V. F. W. week in Nebraska by Otis E. Davis, department commander of Scottsbluff, Wednesday night at a meeting of Charles A. Fraley post No. 1450, at Odd Fellows hall. The goal, Commander Davis said, is the organization of ten new posts and the enrollment of 500 new members before the coming to Nebraska of National Commander James E. Van Zant of Pennsylvania in February.

Commander-in-Chief Van Zant will spend a week in the state. Nathan Grossman, member of the national executive committee said, and expects to be in Lincoln an entire day. He will speak at a noon luncheon, and be the honor guest at a banquet in the evening.

Two Counties Report Reduction in Taxes

Saline county Thursday reported a $61,320 reduction in its total tax bill from last year and Thayer county reported a $39,450 cut

The bulk of Salinee's cut was on the schools, with towns and villages showing a small reduction and the county tax being increased slightly. Its total bill is $466,460 Thayer county, with a total this year of $344,263, also made most of its reduction in school taxes

New Laws Ready To Be Distributed

Secretary of State Swanson has received the first batch of printed copies of the new supplement to the compiled statutes of Nebraska, containing the legislative acts of 1931 and 1933, and will begin distributing them at once. Two thousand copies altogether have been ordered Departments of the state government, certain county offices, the state library, and members of the legislature will be furnished free copies The rest will be sold at $5 apiece to lawyers and others The book comprises 392 pages and is codified in the same manner as the 1929 statutes.

Orpheons Present Musical Assembly

Marjorie Smith Neva Webster Jane Welch and Mary Baker, a Spanish quartet Charles Webster, Kenneth Jones Roger Smith Don Zieg and Bishop Toms, German band

Betty Van Horne Clarissa Bennet Vera Wekesser, Zeno Jones and Robert Storer were members of the Orpheons committee in charge of the program.

Another world war? Impossible! The big shots who vote us into wars would themselves be in danger next time, from bombs and gases, so that's that.

Disastrous Train Wreck Prevented By Oregon Youth

OREGON CITY, Ore., Dec. 7—(AP)—On his way to the routine of the classroom, Hubert Bigej, 13, walked smack into unexpected adventure and probably saved a passenger train from a tragic plunge into the Willamette river.

Hubert, who lives six miles south of here, waited till the Southern Pacific's No. 16 northbound passenger train rumbled past yesterday then followed in its wake on the tracks that curve along the banks of the Willamette toward Oregon City.

Suddenly there was a crash and a roar. Hubert quickened his pace. Ahead of him he saw the roadbed slipping and saw a great part of it slide with a splash into the river.

He knew the southbound passenger train was due soon. He ran at top speed back to New Era station, pantingly told William Dustin the operator there, of the slide. A telephone call to Portland stopped the train at Oregon City.

Everything has been invented for the motorist's comfort except a telephone post that can dodge.

OFF COMES FAT
Hips-Bust-Chin

GET THAT KRUSCHEN FEELING

Gain Physical Attractiveness—Be Free From Constipation, Gas, Acidity and Liver Troubles.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—your eyes sparkle with glorious health—you feel younger in body—keener in mind. Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

Get a jar of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If even this first jar doesn't convince you this is the [illegible] If you don't feel a superb improvement in health [illegible] money returned

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at Harley Drug Co or any drugstore in the world
